

Board Chief Blames Dentists

Time Main Factor

By TERRY HAMMOND

Chairman of a board to license B.C. dental technicians has confirmed that only those who have been breaking the law for at least seven years will be allowed to deal directly with the public.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the dental technician's licensing board and principal author of the licensing regulations, said last night the Colonist had been correct in its interpretation of the regulations when they were handed down during his absence from B.C. earlier this month.

He said the move had been taken to minimize the number of technicians who would receive the special privilege and he blamed the confusion which exists in the dental technician field squarely upon B.C. dentists.

"If the dentists had policed their own act this would not have happened," he stated.

NOT CRIMINAL
Asked to comment on a statement by Dr. C. R. Hallman, president of the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons, that the regulations were tantamount to licensing "abortionists and bootleggers," Dr. Shrum said, "I don't believe that practising as a dental technician dealing with the public is a criminal act."

"Abortionists and bootleggers are guilty of a criminal act and are prosecuted by the attorney-general's department."

NOT THE CASE
This was not so in the case of dental technicians dealing with the public, where prosecutions were the responsibility of the dental profession.

He said that the board recognized that some technicians had been dealing with the public for as long as 15 years.

"The board felt it did not want to throw these people out," he added.

He also pointed out that the regulations were agreed to by officials of both dental technicians' associations in B.C.

DEADLINE REASON
He said the deadline of Sept. 15 for licensing of all technicians who applied to deal with the public, was also designed to restrict sharply the number of technicians so authorized.

"After that there will be no new ones brought in and in 10 years most of them will be retired."

When all those licensed are dead or retired, all technicians will operate on dentists' prescriptions.

LAST SEVEN
The regulations extend licenses to deal with the public to technicians with 12 years' experience, of which the last seven must have been "in an establishment dealing with the public in B.C."

All others will be licensed only to supply dentures upon the written prescription of a dentist.

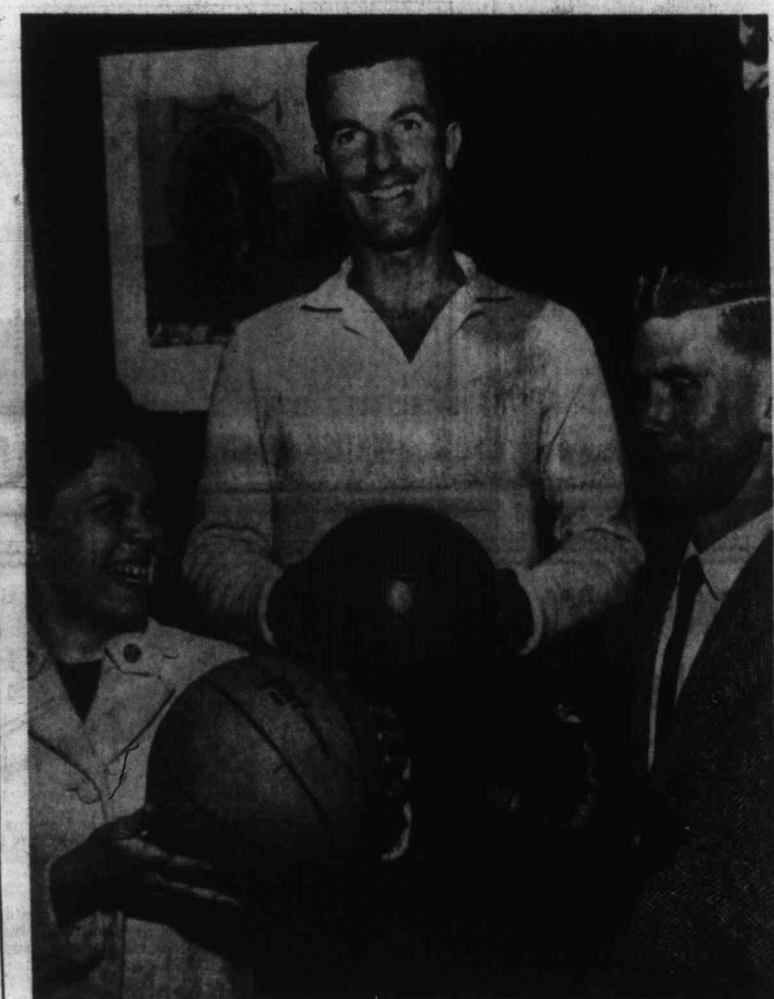

Many technicians will not be able to apply for the special privilege of dealing directly with the public because they cannot truthfully say that they have been dealing illegally with the public for seven years.

Jammed Store Burns, 11 Die in Liverpool

LIVERPOOL (AP)—The worst fire here since the 1940 Nazi blitz swept through a crowded five-storey department store Wednesday.

Eleven or more persons were killed and a dozen or so were injured.

A heroic engineer working on a renovation project in the Henderson store fell to his death from a finger-tip hold on a top floor ledge after helping five girls to safety.

The store, a subsidiary of the famous Harrods of London, was doing business as usual during modernization when the fire began, and many customers and clerks were trapped on the top floor.

It was believed the fire started in a kitchen in a pan of French fries that blazed up and was quickly beyond control.

Revised lists will run Sunday.

Duncan lists will run separately.

Mall Vote Today

Mayor Percy Scourrah called yesterday for a good turnout for today's voting on the bylaw to borrow $1,000,000 for construction of a parking facility and mall.

The voting will be in the Victoria Ballroom at Government and Cormorant from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with 13,406 owner-electors eligible to cast ballots.

The bylaw requires the approval of 60 per cent of those voting to pass.

"The vote is a most important one for the city," Mayor Scourrah said. "Both sides of the question have been thoroughly aired and it is my hope that all owner-electors will exercise their franchise."

"Regardless of the result, city council is anxious that a majority of the voters will express their opinion in order that we will know beyond doubt what the city wants."

Leave Documents Lesage Warns

By CP and UPI

OTTAWA—The Liberals last night won a shaky election over the Union Nationale in what was regarded as one of the major upsets in Canadian politics.

Premier Antonio Barrette said the margin was so slight he would ask Lieutenant-Governor Onisme Gagnon to call another election immediately.

The Liberals won 50 seats, compared with 44 for the Union Nationale. The other seat of the 95 in the House was won by an Independent.

Recounts in several ridings could alter the standings.

NOT ENOUGH?

Political sources said Mr. Gagnon would almost certainly ask Liberal leader Jean Lesage to form a new government. However, some observers said that under Quebec's electoral law Mr. Lesage did not have a sufficient majority to form a "permanent" government. They said another election would likely be held within six months.

Mr. Lesage's victory was almost a duplicate of that pulled off in 1957 when John Diefenbaker's Conservatives toppled a 22-year federal Liberal rule.

LANDSLIDE NEXT

Mr. Diefenbaker at that time formed a minority government after being given little chance of winning the election. One year later he scored the greatest victory in Canadian federal politics.

Definite results on the apparent upset hinged on narrow votes in some constituencies. Some constituencies were decided by fewer than 100 votes. In Montmagny, Attorney-General Antoine Rivard was defeated by 10 votes.

FAVOR LIBERALS

However, authoritative sources said recounts would likely favor the Liberals.

When Mr. Lesage claimed victory, the Liberals had 49 seats.

"Victory is assured," he said. "The Liberals will govern the province with 49 seats."

TAKE NOTHING

He coupled his claim with a warning to cabinet ministers and government officials not to attempt to remove any documents from the legislature.

Mr. Lesage said he will be at the opposition leader's office in the legislature today "to confer with members of my team."

TOOK AWAY 29

In their upsurge, the Liberals gained 29 seats from the Union Nationale plus two new seats created at the last session of the legislature. One of the new seats was Duplessis, named for the late Maurice Duplessis.

When the legislature was dissolved April 24, the Liberals held 17 seats and the Union Nationale 71.

RECORD VOTE

The election saw a record vote of more than 2,000,000 and brought a sharp shift in the popular vote to the Liberals from the Union Nationale.

Mr. Lesage won personal election in Quebec West, in his first bid to enter the legislature.

Final standing:	1960	1956
Liberals	50	29
Union Nationale	44	72
Independent	1	1
Total	95	95

Party gains:
Liberals from UN, 29.
Liberals new seats, 2.
Unchanged, 64.

Elected with him were men who toppled some Union Nationale cabinet ministers and scored upset victories in seats where Union Nationale members had piled up overwhelming majorities in 1956.

Besides Attorney-General Rivard, cabinet ministers defeated included Trade Minister Beaulieu in St. Johns, Finance Minister Bourque in Sherbrooke, Lands and Forests Minister Jacques Miquelon in Abitibi East and Wilfrid Labbe, minister without portfolio, in Athabasca.

Pearkes Warns MPs

'Don't Rattle Nuclear Sabre'

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Pearkes cast doubt Wednesday on whether Canada will obtain nuclear weapons for its armed forces.

The minister told the Commons defence committee disarmament negotiations now are going on and it would be unwise for "Canada to rattle the sabre by saying that come hell or high water we are going to use nuclear weapons."

At the same time, Mr. Pearkes said a Canada-U.S. exchange of notes providing for storage of nuclear warheads at Harmon Field, Nfld., and Goose Bay, Labrador, for U.S. intercept squadrons there is in the course of preparation.

Paul Hellyer (L., Toronto Trinity), and Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) made the committee's 14th sitting its most rousing yet by sharp questioning of the government's nuclear policy.

Mr. Hellyer, former associate defence minister, said the government has no policy and is in complete confusion. It was foolishly hard to spend money on such nuclear carriers as the Bomarc when it wasn't known that the nuclear warheads for them would be obtained.

Mr. Winch accused the government of stalling on Canada-U.S. negotiations for providing Canadian forces with nuclear weapons until the committee has finished its work.

He said the committee is a "farce" and gets less information on defence than appears in the press.

SIDETRACKED

Mr. Winch's motion that External Affairs Minister Green appear before the committee to explain the 18-month "delay" in agreement with the U.S. was sidetracked.

Mr. Pearkes said there is no urgency about these negotiations because Canada won't get the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile until late next year. "Preliminary discussions" were continuing at the "official level."

Mr. Winch said the government's defence policy is "if, when and may."

Mr. Pearkes said the government has a "perfectly clear policy." Nuclear weapons might be banned by international agreement and thus Canada could not say definitely it would use them. If disarmament negotiations failed, Canadian forces "might" require nuclear weapons.

He couldn't say when negotiations with the U.S. will be completed. But Canada didn't yet have the weapons to fire nuclear warheads.

'First' for B.C.

Compensation to Cover Radioactive Materials

B.C. is expected to become the first province in Canada to approve workmen's compensation regulations governing the use of industrial radioactive materials and apparatus.

A Workmen's Compensation Board spokesman yesterday confirmed the regulations have already been prepared and said they are likely to go into effect late this year, possibly in September or October.

The regulations are being drawn up as the result of increasing use of radioactive materials in private industry, the spokesman said.

At the present time close to 200 workers are handling such materials daily "and thousands are working in close proximity to them," he stated.

The spokesman said the board has already settled one claim for radiation burns involving the fingers of a Vancouver nurse who handled a radioactive needle—a device used in the treatment of certain diseases.

New regulations would extend to hospitals and medical centres as well as industry.

Mall and Parking Bylaw

VICTORIA'S mall - and - parking money bylaw goes before city taxpayers today for final decision, accepted or rejected. Some 18,406 "owner-electors," as the returning officer designates them, will be eligible to mark the ballot in premises at the northwest corner of Government and Cormorant Streets between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. There will be one ballot to one taxpayer within the prescribed category. Counting after the poll closes should be brief with only one form of ballot to handle.

To pass, the money bylaw will require a 60 per cent affirmative vote of the total of valid ballots cast. One ballot less in the "yes" column would defeat the measure. To secure passage the bylaw needs the approval of six out of 10 of those voting.

Campaigning on either side of the issue closed yesterday. Today it will be up to the taxpayers of the community to say what they wish done about the matter. With 18,406 citizens of Victoria eligible to express their wishes, one trusts that there will be a fully representative cross-section of the community at the polls. Whether the bylaw is ratified or rejected, Victorians will have to live with the result.

The poll is being taken during a period of 12 hours, in prospectively good weather and on the day that the last schools close for the summer vacation. Statutory rules applying to those at work during the time of the polling will apply as usual. There will be little normal excuse for those who do not exercise their right by marking a ballot while eligible to do so. Men fought for the right long ago. By tradition and law money bylaws are voted on principally by those who have a property stake in the community. Tenant-electors will not vote in the city reference by reason of that classification; all property owners should.

Lawbreaking Juveniles

THE minimum fine even for a first offence which the courts may impose on a waiter in licensed premises convicted of serving anyone under the age of 21 years is $300. The juvenile involved, though culpable to equal or greater degree, may be let off with a much smaller penalty, rarely more than $50 and usually much less.

The B.C. Hotelmen's Association for many years has smarted under a sense of injustice in this connection, and now is making another appeal for adjustment of the scale of penalties. What it appears to be seeking is not so much a reduction of fines imposed on waiters as an increase in the penalty to which juveniles would be liable. There is a great deal to be said for this. The respective penalties are patently inconsistent, and the unfairness protested by the association clearly exists.

The waiter who knowingly sells drinks to a juvenile deserves severe punishment, and no doubt that is the reason for the relatively heavy penalty which the act provides. However, a waiter with no intention of breaking the law may do so unconsciously in the pressure of a rush period or because a young customer looks a lot more than his age. Thus the element of a guilty mind, necessary in most criminal cases to sustain a prosecution, may be absent.

That cannot be so in the case of the customer. He knows that he is under 21 years, and in the licensed premises of this province there is no excuse for not knowing the law. Notices of it are prominently displayed. A juvenile knows or should know, also, that by risking prosecution himself he is taking unfair advantage of the bartender.

If the penalty on minors was much higher many of them might deem the danger, not worth running, which is largely the purpose in having a system of punishment. As the association has pointed out, many minors earn as much as $25 a day and a fine of $10 or so means nothing to them. While there may be exceptions, the public drinking places of B.C. do not encourage under-age custom. On the contrary they are scared stiff of admitting juveniles because the possible consequences are so severe. A little of the same kind of fear injected into the latter might work wonders.

When School Is Out

GREATER VICTORIA'S elementary schools will wind up with closing exercises uniformly today, and then 15,000 children will be on their way home from the last classrooms this side of the post-Labor Day resumption of a new term. Motorists, accustomed to driving by school yards while school was "in" or with school patrols on the crosswalks, will have to use both eyes particularly when the excited break-away commences at the schools. Women driving to shop during school hours may be surprised at the number of children about, but they will be there in one way or another for 10 weeks to come.

Habit dies hard. The change from the highly controlled foot traffic of school days to the free and easy use of the sidewalks and streets by scores of young people comes in a single day. For the next few days all drivers should be on their guard against the unexpected. The toddler who breaks away from the curb at the last moment; the youngster chasing a ball that has rolled farther than expected; the sudden emergence of a child in the path of a moving vehicle without warning, or half-a-hundred other manifestations of the unpredictable and unexpected all call for a cool head and watchfulness if harm is to be prevented.

In a week or so the summer holidays may be as routine to habituated drivers as were the school days before. In that period, however, all adults, older children and even the disbanded members of the school traffic patrols will need to earn their halos realistically and well. Accidents do not need to "happen." They can be avoided, with care. Beginning today when excited crowds of young people may be in very fast motion on the streets, drive as if one were expecting the unpredictable.

Interpreting the News

Dulles Is Missed

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will return home to a sympathetic nation after the Far Eastern disasters which overtook him. But it is a sympathy bound to get lost in an uproar.

The uproar is the coming presidential campaign, in which one of the issues will be Eisenhower himself on the question of his leadership or the lack of it. The humiliations inflicted on Eisenhower were personal and national.

In Tokyo, rioting mobs forced the cancellation of his trip to Japan; Sunday in American-occupied Okinawa the rioting of anti-American mobs caused the president to return to the airport by back streets. This may not be the end.

The presidential campaign will be more turbulent if, between now and election day next November, the Russians and Chinese Communists create new crises or new ways to embarrass the United States.

Until ill health pushed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles out of the picture early in 1959 and then killed him, Eisenhower for years had been accused of lacking leadership. With Dulles gone, this changed.

Eisenhower then began to assert himself in foreign affairs more actively or at least more openly than when Dulles seemed to run the show.

This was recognized and commented upon. Here are some of the decisions he made after Mr. Dulles' death: to go to the summit; to invite Premier Khrushchev; and to make several goodwill tours of his own; his 11-nation journey to Europe, Africa and Asia; the Latin-American trip, and finally the ill-starred journey to the Far East.

Perhaps if Mr. Dulles had lived none of the disasters would have happened. He might have been shrewd enough to have understood the angry mood in Tokyo and Okinawa and have kept them off the president's itinerary, particularly after the episode of the U-2 spy plane, the summit collapse and Khrushchev's humiliating cancellation of Eisenhower's trip to Russia.

But perhaps the administration's mis-handling of the plane incident would never have happened, either, if Dulles had been alive and in control.

Vive Le Sport!

By CASSANDRA, From London

I DISLIKE sport. Particularly football. And even more particularly the slightly snobbish form of booting a ball about called rugby which is still more repellent to me than what the Wolves, the Gunners and the Canaries do.

But I admit that it DOES provide an emotional outlet for men who, if they did not go to jeer and cheer on the muddy field, would probably be more dangerously engaged in strangling their wives and setting fire to their kids.

I learnt this lesson long ago at White Hart Lane.

The referee was not satisfying the supporters of the Spurs and beside me stood an emaciated wisp of a man in a threadbare cloth cap who, judging by his pallor and his depression, must have been conceived in a pallid moment of listless regret.

Yet this husk of a slip of a chap had much to say when the ref. displeased him—which was all the time. He whispered, "Kill him! Kill him! Kill him!" in the same tones that you or I would ask for olive oil to be mixed with lettuce salad—"Olive oil! Olive oil! Olive oil!"

I was reminded of this pasty-faced fury who, in spirit, attends all games of athletic pleasure whether it be village cricket, fives at Eton, or croquet at Roehampton. This ghost will especially be brooding over the Olympic Games this year in Rome.

The bitterness of playing for the pure fun and innocent glee of it on fields, on courts and on tracks, was brought home to me by a small objective paragraph that has filtered to London out of Rumania, of all places.

The Rumanian football team has just met a visiting side from Czechoslovakia and has been beaten by two goals to nil.

The Rumanian Communist newspaper, Scinte, has this to say of their defeated team:

"They are guilty of individualism, ambitions towards stardom, neglect of esprit de corps, unconcern for the collective, discipline, irresponsibility, selfishness and lack of regard for the spectators."

The lot.

If ever the shabby, unsmiling face of Communism could be revealed it is by this grey, gritty stuff.

If you don't win you are accused of "lack of regard for the spectators."

If you want to do a bit of flashy show-off stuff—trying to please the spectators—you are condemned for "ambitions towards stardom."

If you are not at least one goal ahead you are trounced for "neglect of esprit de corps"—in other words lacking in successful team spirit which, in the triumphant Communist world, means that you have got to win even if they have to kill you to do it.

If you are beat on your feet having tried your comradely best and yet your side has still not prevailed then, dear Soccervarisch, you are guilty of "discipline, irresponsibility and selfishness."

It's the sporting game and the gay friendship and the sheer fun of it that counts.

Vive le sport!
(Note to Ministerium Sportisk: Relegate Rumania to the Siberian League.)

Reports from Ottawa

A RENEWAL of the major airlines' fight for domestic traffic rights appears imminent, with implications that may prove embarrassing to the Diefenbaker government.

Canadian Pacific Airlines' president Grant McConachie has already fired a range-finding salvo. In a speech at Calgary June 6 he alleged government unfairness to CPA in the matter of domestic traffic rights, unfairness to passengers in a situation wherein service is placed second to the traffic welfare of the government airline, unfairness of the Canada-U.S. air agreement, and unfairness of Trans-Canada Airlines' policies.

McConachie charged TCA had failed to reduce its fares until forced to, that its "strategy to frustrate competition" was to lose money "at whatever cost to the taxpayer." In order to force CPA to lose money, TCA has embarked, he charged, on a "fantastic and deliberate over-expansion in equipment" so that it "will lose a lot of money" and be able to blame CPA's competition.

But it takes two to make a fight, and so far TCA's president Gordon McGregor has declined to fight back. "We'll wait until the battle is properly joined," he told me, referring to the near certainty that CPA will approach the Air Transport Board early next year to ask for relaxation of restrictions on CPA's transcontinental flights.

The TCA president opined that McConachie "is needing us. Most people can detect fabrication where it occurs," he said, adding that TCA "is not buying any equipment where we don't see the need for it."

What burns CPA is not only the limit the ATB and the government put on CPA transcontinental flights (one per day each way) as opposed to unlimited TCA flights, but also that the CPA flights must be metropolitan hoppers. CPA was given traffic rights at Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, but it is also obliged to make traffic stops at all these cities on every flight.

This prohibition on overflights means CPA cannot compete on even terms with TCA's four and one-half hour, non-stop jet flight from Toronto to Vancouver, not even when CPA gets the same kind of DC-8 jets next year.

The ironical thing about this is that the party that laced CPA into this competitive strait jacket is the party that used to protest against the monopoly of the government airline in the days of the Liberal regime. Perhaps it's not unfair to paraphrase Transport Minister Hees' post-election comment about the CNR: "It's our airline now!"

McConachie also dealt with the disadvantages to Canada of the Canada-U.S. air agreement. Canadian Airlines—mainly TCA—are not permitted to fly to distant U.S. cities (Tampa excepted), as are other foreign lines, but must dump their passengers at places like New York and Cleveland for U.S. lines to pick up. Prime Minister Diefenbaker was supposed to have pressed President Eisenhower for a revision of the agreement, when they conferred in Washington June 3. This was on their agenda. But in the Commons June 9 the PM said he didn't even raise the matter.

Liberal Paul Hellyer told Diefenbaker that "You missed a great opportunity." I fully agree. Another chance is not likely to arise until after the new president has been in office long enough to get settled in the job, which may take a year.

Dodging the Rush

By GREGORY CLARK

DURING the summer season, from mid-May to the end of September, a senior business executive of my acquaintance rises at 6 a.m. every week day, arrives at his office at 7 a.m., deals, in the empty office, with the pile of work and correspondence his secretary left for him after 3 p.m. the day before.

"There is practically no traffic," he says, "between 6 and 7 o'clock in the morning, and it's a pleasure to drive into the city from my suburban home. I have two hours to talk into my dictating machine, cleaning up the neatly organized correspondence of yesterday and issuing memos for today. I get back from lunch at two, and quit the office sharp on the dot of three. And drive back home, or to the golf club, well ahead of the cramped traffic that starts at four, or soon after."

Volcano in The Orient

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE sounds out of Asia are like the rumblings of a volcano about to erupt. The subterranean roar, breaking out into the open in Korea and Japan, is a deep-seated symptom that American policymakers have in recent years either ignored or failed to face up to.

They have believed that by backing "strong" men and providing military assistance for military pacts the line could be held. What is happening today belies this comfortable assumption.

The easy explanation is Communism—the Communists have been at it again. Certainly Communism is the trigger. But an explosion could not be set off if in the mass there were not the potentialities for an outburst.

In the view of this observer, America's China policy, ignoring the existence of 600,000,000 people and hoping that something would turn up, preferably that long-promised internal revolution, is at the root of the trouble. The effect of the Chinese revolution throughout Asia has been incalculable. The material achievements of the Red regime, trumpeted by the powerful and unceasing propaganda, have had a far-reaching influence.

Those achievements seem to the West to have come at an appalling cost in human values, reducing human beings to ants or bees entirely at the mercy of an all powerful dictatorship. But in Asia, where all but a tiny fraction of the people live close to the hunger line and where "freedom" is only the vaguest word, this has nothing like the same impact. The mass of Asians see the highways, schools, research centres, modern weapons achieved by an Asian people who breathe defiance at the West.

The surprises for policy makers in Washington, such as the uprising that drove Syngman Rhee from Korea, are far from ended. Knowledgeable analysts in the top echelon of government believe that something like this may happen in the not too distant future in Vietnam. Or, at any rate, the potential is there to be fired by a Communist fuse.

It is a familiar situation. The head of the government, President Ngo Dinh Diem, is a man of integrity and courage dedicated to a free Vietnam oriented toward the West. But recent reports indicate that grafting by officials of his National Revolutionary Party is reaching an intolerable stage. In some areas the government exercises authority during the day and the Communists take over at night, as in the last phase of the French Indo-China war.

What is disturbing is to hear from state department officials something like the following: Yes, there is graft. Perhaps it is not as bad as some sources represent it to be. Anyway, in the Orient you have to accept a degree of graft as a matter of course.

This was exactly what was being said by apologists for Chiang Kai-shek before the Communists triumphed in 1949 and drove Chiang and a remnant of his force to Formosa. Certainly in China the graft had reached an intolerable level, with members of Chiang's family amassing enormous fortunes as a ruinous inflation ran riot and contributed to the ultimate tragedy.

Graft in the Philippines is reported to be at such an oppressive level that some sources advised the president against visiting Manila lest he seem to sanction what is going on. Richard Dugman of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch staff, travelling with the president, reports that leaders of the opposition Liberal party were kept away from Eisenhower, although the likelihood is that they will come to power in elections next year on a wave of discontent.

That illustrates one handicap of the personal diplomacy of these presidential tours. The visiting American president sees only those sitting currently in the seats of power and he hears only their formal protestations of friendship at big, showy ceremonial functions.

Too often, too, American ambassadors are insulated from all but a few English-speaking officials at the top who tell them exactly what they want them to hear and nothing more. The overthrow of Adnan Menderes and his dictators in Turkey is said to have come as a stunning blow to the American embassy in Ankara where it had been assumed that Menderes was unassailable.

There are two ways to react to what is happening. One is to learn from it and to try to formulate new and more realistic policies to be carried out by those who understand what recent events mean. The other way is to belabor the Communist scapegoat, to go on ignoring the present trend away from the West—and to be shocked and surprised when the volcano erupts again.

Sunset Rites

As an NCO in the Corps of Imperial Frontiersmen I was very interested in the letter by Padre Gollmer in your issue of June 18 regarding the sunset ceremonies and the increased publicity to be given to these very colorful events.

We, the members of the Victoria squadron of the CIF are attending every ceremony in an official capacity, and I feel quite sure that our presence on the grounds of the legislative buildings adds to the color and importance of such ceremonies. Besides, our presence there is not entirely for spectacular reasons, but to perform the duties of an auxiliary police force in keeping the grounds clear of inquisitive members of the general public who, unless supervised, would wander indiscriminately around the Cenotaph and onto the grass lawns during the performing of the traditional ceremony of lowering the flag and The Last Post.

It is very evident to us that our presence is not mentioned during the announcing and describing of the ceremony to the public, and this omission is generously considered as a mere oversight. However, it is just that same omission which rankles in our loyal breasts.

Apart from that, however, we do appreciate the very earnest comments made by the worthy padre anent the cadet units in general, and are prepared to endorse same thoroughly.

Ike in the Orient

We must all admit that "Ike's" intentions towards world peace are sincere, but we have to take into consideration the millions of Japanese dead and God knows how many others rendered sterile. Such things are not easily forgotten or forgiven, and the fact that his peaceful visit was backed up by a small army and a complete battle fleet would not tend to enhance his welcome.

Naturally those who live in fear and dread of Communism and extermination give him a terrific welcome as their possible saviour and last hope; and who wouldn't under such circumstances? That's the way I see it.

Not Genuine Socialists

In all fairness to genuine Socialists it should be pointed out that the so-called Socialists of Japan, so prominent in the news these days, are of the CCF, Labor, Social-Democrat reformist variety and that they do not have the same object and principles nor are they in any way connected with the Socialist party of Canada, Great Britain, New Zealand and Australia, Ireland and the World Socialist Party of the United States. All the aforementioned genuine Socialist parties adhere to the same set of objects and principles.

Genuine Socialists do not engage in such sieve plugging but merely advocate the democratic overthrow of the commodity system and replacing it with production for use—socialism.

Easier Solution

I should like to bring to attention a point concerning Rudolf Flesch's "Let's Talk" column of the Sunday Colonist, page 13.

In the second problem the solution, although correct, is not the easiest method. My method is to simply add the coffee drinker (78) and the tea drinker (71) to get a total of 149. Subtract the number who drink both (48) and the result is 101, the very same answer as arrived at by Prof. Wylie's complicated solution.

Campaign

Colleagues Wrong—Doctor

OTTAWA (CP) — Alberta doctor Hugh Horner (PC-Jasper-Edson) said Wednesday he holds no brief for the campaign launched by his profession in the Saskatchewan election.

"I believe it was wrong," he said in the Commons, referring to the opposition mounted by Saskatchewan doctors to CCF plans to bring in provincial health insurance.

Dr. Horner said nobody, including labor unions, "should do as the profession did in Saskatchewan in launching its own campaign."

He doubted anybody disagreed with the view that everybody is entitled to adequate medical care. The question was the method to follow.

He said the "very personal relationship" between doctor and patient couldn't be socialized.

Youth Fined For Having Beer in Car

Pleading guilty in city police court to being a minor in possession of liquor, Stanley D. Shaw, 19, of 1240 Glyn, yesterday was fined $20. Police found 35 bottles of beer in his car on Douglas Street.

Leonard Joseph Howe, Nainimo, was sentenced to 16 days in jail on a second conviction of impaired driving when he pleaded guilty in Saanich court Tuesday.

CCFers Urge Health Plan

Saskatchewan Echoes

OTTAWA (CP)—Echoes of the Saskatchewan election campaign resounded in the Commons Wednesday as opposition members urged the government to get working on a national health insurance plan.

CCF speakers urged the federal government to take a cue from the Saskatchewan socialist administration, which won re-election June 8 on the promise that it would institute a prepaid medical care program.

MAJOR COSTS

For the Liberals, Paul Martin of Essex East said party policy called for provision of surgical expenditures which, combined with hospital insurance, "would ensure that no Canadian would be financially crippled by illness."

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue said there is a tendency among many private plans to reduce coverage or increase premiums—or both—and to exclude high-risk applicants who need the protection most.

Mr. Martin, the former Liberal health minister, declared:

"It simply cannot be argued

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada loses a greater percentage of doctors without a national health plan than Britain does with one, Murdo Martin (CCF, Timmins) said Wednesday in the Commons.

He was replying to Edwin W. Brunson (PC, Medicine Hat) who asked him to relate the "tremendous flight" of physicians and surgeons from Britain after national health insurance was instituted there, with Saskatchewan's decision to install a provincial plan.

Canadian Satellite Next Year

PENTICTON (CP)—Canada likely will be the third nation to have an instrumented satellite in space and the site of the first attempt to send a man to the moon, say scientists meeting at Canada's new observatory near here.

Dr. D. C. Rose, chairman of the National Research Council space research committee, said the Canadian satellite will be launched next year with a 200-pound instrument payload.

Dr. Rose said Canada at present leads the world in the study of the ionosphere. "The Americans were so impressed that they agreed to orbit our instruments," he said. "It is the first time that the U.S. has accepted such assistance from another country."

By UPI AP
WASHINGTON — Two new U.S. satellites circling the earth after a spectacular "doubleheader" launching Tuesday contain Canada's first space experiment, it was disclosed yesterday.

The moonlets, launched piggy-back fashion from Cape Canaveral, were sent aloft to provide the world a precise all-weather navigation system, improve the accuracy of its clocks and measure the sun's radiation.

The larger satellite carries a space experiment for Canada—a receiver to study background radio noises from the galaxies.

The Canadian experiment is checking on natural background noises from the galaxies so they will be known and accounted for in a later experiment. In that experiment, to be conducted by the U.S., soundings from the top side of the ionosphere will be correlated with studies made of the bottom side from earth to get information on the density and outline of the ionosphere.

After seven days, the Canadian receiving output will be turned off and its antennas will serve as the device which will stop the transit satellite from spinning.

The satellite was launched into orbit while spinning rapidly about its axis to keep it stable. But the spin causes distortion in its radio transmissions from the satellite.

Two weights fastened on the satellite, which also serve as antenna for the Canadian experiment, will be cut loose by a pre-set timer. Then will fly outward on the end of cables and stop the spin.

The double launching assures the U.S. of having an operating system of navigation satellites by 1962, U.S. Navy scientists say.

That's when the growing fleet of missile-launching submarines will need such artificial radio stars to help them fix their positions and plot missile trajectories with pinpoint accuracy in all weather and without surfacing.

Satellites Back Nikita

BUCHAREST (Reuters)—East European Communist leaders Wednesday lined up behind Soviet Premier Khrushchev's declaration of peaceful co-existence.

Hungarian, East German, Bulgarian and Czech party leaders all affirmed their backing for the doctrine that war with the West is not inevitable.

Khrushchev told the Romanian Communist party's congress Tuesday in a two-hour speech that Communists could not go on repeating Lenin's doctrine that war with the imperialists is inevitable.

The statement was interpreted by many Western observers as a rebuttal to the Chinese Communists, who hold that Lenin's theory still is valid.

Beware Get-Rich-Quick Land Deals

While government investigators were still probing what may turn into a million-dollar real estate scandal, yesterday, Attorney General Robert Bonner warned against get-rich-quick property deals. He said the public would be wise to seek legal advice before investing in real estate schemes.

"Investors should remember that $25 worth of advice from any competent lawyer can save them many times that in foolish investments."

As he spoke, departmental inspectors were probing deeper into a network of transactions by a group of Vancouver firms.

Mr. Bonner said a small number of people have lost sizable sums of money. Estimates of the loss have been reported in excess of $1,000,000 and as high as $2,000,000.

The investigation was launched as a result of complaints that private investors were bilked through property exchanges involving fraudulent stock.

Investigators are concentrating on one group of interlocking companies to which other firms may be linked by a complex network of common directorships.

Most of the deals involve properties on the Lower Mainland.

Month-Old Triplets To Be Given Away

YEOVIL, England (UPI)—"Triplets (a month old) yours . . . for the asking." It sounded like an advertisement for some merchandise. But it was in fact a newspaper appeal for a home for triplets of a young unmarried mother who could not afford to keep them. Offers are pouring in.

Mother, Children Flee Bear into Lake

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (CP)—A mother told yesterday how she twice carried and led four children into a lake to escape a hungry black bear that invaded their picnic.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sheasby of International Falls and their five children went for a Sunday outing on Rainy Lake, motorboating to Red Gut Bay on the Canadian side of the lake.

They had a picnic lunch and then Sheasby and the eldest child, Billy, 13, got into the boat and went fishing. Mrs. Sheasby and the other children remained on the beach.

Then a huge bear ambled out of the brush and headed for the group. Mrs. Sheasby grabbed a bassinet in which one-month-old Wendy Kay slept, and herded the other youngsters, Kathy, 11; Shelly, 7, and Mike, 5, into the lake, an uncertain refuge.

They were in the water nearly an hour, screaming for help. The bear finally retreated after licking up a bag of potato chips and a few beans in a pan, the only food left after the picnic.

Mrs. Sheasby cautiously brought her family to shore. The children had just changed from bathing suits into clothing when the bear reappeared. Mother and children headed for the water again, Mrs. Sheasby carrying the baby in her arms.

Apparently searching for food, the bear ripped the bassinet to pieces, then sat on its haunches eyeing the frightened mother and children.

Finally the father and son rounded a nearby point. Sheasby speeded up the engine and made several passes close to shore which frightened the bear away.

After Sheasby got his family safely aboard, the bear reappeared. The family circled the bay several minutes watching the animal, then headed for home.

But Cricket Suffers

Grandma's Life Span Increasing

By RICHARD L. THOMAS
Daily Colonist London Correspondent

LONDON—On the last day of the first test cricket match between England and South Africa there were 500 spectators on the ground. At the eight county matches on the same day there were 1,800 people. True, it was Tuesday and a full working day—but there was a time when a test match would have attracted 30,000 spectators on the busiest days and office boys' grandmothers were dying by the thousands.

So take Saturday. Saturday is the traditional sporting day. Most industries operate a five-day week. The total attendance at all first cricket—including the test match—was approximately 21,000—the sort of gate county cricket used to attract on most grounds.

The reason? Television say the pundits.

NOT WHOLLY TRUE

The good British sporting man stayed at home to watch the test match instead of either going to see it or going to his local cricket ground. The idiot's lantern ruined the gates of all first-class cricket. It is as good a reason as any. But it is not wholly true.

Whither county cricket? It is a strange paradox that in a world where there is much more leisure than there used to be, no one seems to have time to spend at the county ground. The heyday of county cricket was between the two world wars. So what has happened since then?

Television, of course. Radio before that.

THOUSANDS OF CARS

Thousands of motor cars have been turned into millions. It has been estimated that on a fine weekend there are 6,000,000 cars on the roads of this over-crowded island—nearly half the nation perambulating round the country.

Some of them, no doubt, the stuff of which county cricket crowds were made.

There is another thing. The kind of Englishman who spent his summer watching cricket (like the disappearing amateur cricketer) has vanished. The gentleman with a private income has all but disappeared and where he hasn't he has to spend most of his time worrying about income tax.

GET IT OVER

But you will still find some good crowds and excellent cricket in the Lancashire League. The reason is that the cricket may be rough and ready at times but it is exciting and they "get it over with" in an afternoon. County cricket drags on for three whole days, test matches for five days.

It's rather like the theatre and the talkies—they've been desperately hard hit by TV according to the experts, but the strange thing is that if you put on a really good play or a really good talkie you'll still find them standing in line to get in.

County cricket as played today is a gesture to history—like the Household Cavalry, the Yeomen of the Guard and democracy. Colorful things to see occasionally, to talk about and photograph—but not much practical use in the atomic age.

KEEP IT SHORT

Even so English people still love cricket. But the day when watching cricket meant a picnic on a lovely ground and a day in the sun has vanished. You can go further (sometimes anyway) in a car, television and the popular newspaper have made you receptive to quick action. It's a world of headlines and punch-packed thrills with life trimmed to half-an-hour or half-a-column. Even the parsons think 20 minutes is long for a sermon—and the congregation thinks 10 is enough.

But the illusion that three and five-day cricket matches can survive lingers on.

Soon county cricket will have to be streamlined even if it leaves Dr. Grace rotting in his grave. The heretics have already suggested limiting matches to one day playing from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. with intervals for meals and allowing 9½ hours for play with a time limit of 2½ hours for each innings for the start and two hours each for the second innings—plus anytime you can pinch from the other fellow by getting his side out. Add to that only two days for cricket in the week—Saturday and Sunday—and you would get something so fast, furious and exciting that the customers would want to see it. And if the game was washed out it would be played on a fine week day—no draws.

True it would not be the cricket we know today—but it might do something to keep the game alive.

Latest in long line of golf gimmicks is this special five-iron which also comes as driving wood. Special hinge partway up shaft opens on jerky backswing, poor hand action or faulty pivots. Works fine, however, with proper swing.

Pirates and Yanks Look to October

Pittsburgh Pirates, who haven't been in a world series for 33 years, and New York Yankees, who have been in nine of the last 11 and 19 since

Washington	26	34	.435	11
Kansas City	26	34	.435	11
Boston	21	39	.350	16

the Pirates last made it, yesterday continued to sprint towards a post-season clash.

Hottest club in the major league for the past two weeks, the Yankees shook off for the moment at least the almost-expected injury to Bill Skowron.

The big firstbaseman, who annually manages to get injured at least once, was lost to his club for a week or 10 days when he suffered a severely sprained wrist sliding into second base in the sixth inning of a game against Detroit Tigers on Tuesday night.

Kent Hadley, who came to the Yankees in the deal with Kansas City which also brought them Roger Maris, filled Skowron's shoes well last night. He batted in three runs with two homers and with Maris adding his 20th four-baser, the Yankees clobbered the Tigers, 7-3.

SIX STRAIGHT

It was the sixth straight win for both Art Ditmar, who had lost his first three decisions of the year, and the Yankees, who now have won 13 of their last 14 to move from five-and-a-half-game trailers to a one-and-a-half-game lead.

Baltimore's second-place Orioles lost ground when Early Wynn regained his old form and pitched the still-dangerous Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 win.

It was Wynn's third victory in nine decisions this season and the 27th win of his major league career. He gave up only two hits.

Cleveland's Frank Lane was taking bows again yesterday after Ted Bowditch, the Pen-tion southpaw he obtained only a short while back from Boston Red Sox came up with a second straight win for his new club.

Bowditch beat Washington Senators, 1-0, with a five-hitter as he made a first-inning run which came out of Jim Piersall's triple and Harvey Kuenn's single, stand up.

FRIEND READY

As for the Pirates, they had Bob Friend ready yesterday and the result was a 5-0 win over St. Louis Cardinals. It was the ninth win in 12 decisions for the veteran and his fourth shutout of the season.

But the Pirates had new contenders for their position atop the National League in the Milwaukee Braves.

Coming on steadily, the Braves bounced the fading San Francisco Giants 7-4, and while Milwaukee is still three and a half game out, the difference on the losing side is only two games.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Giants, who have played five games since Bill Rigney was bounced and replaced by Tom Sheehan.

Champs Must Help Out If Vics to Stay Alive

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria's fate in the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff chase rests squarely in the hands of the Mann Cup champions from New Westminster.

It was put there last night, when Vics were beaten, 8-5, by Vancouver in a game that was virtually a must for Norm Baker's club. Because they lost, Vics must now sit back Gimble, Bill Barbour and John Cervi. Ed Kowalyk, a standout all night, scored for Vics.

Vics brief flare of spirited lacrosse lasted less than seven minutes, but it almost got the job done. Tom Collett put a long, soft shot past Joseph at 3:54 of the final period, and Stu Smith went barging around Bill Chisholm to score at 5:19. Then Kowalyk fed a perfect spot pass to Jim McNeill, who scored at 10:24 to move Vics within one goal.

But that was to be all, and Vics left the floor in their toughest spot of the season.

Manager Ralph Baker was still looking on the bright side and looking forward to next week's series with New Westminster. Both Gill and Landess will be back for that one, and Jackie Wilson has returned from college. He will also be ready as Vics level all their guns in a last-ditch effort at New Westminster.

They may have to depend on help from the champs this week, but next week they have to clobber them. Vics are still confident they can.

Speaking Briefly

Now It Can Be Told, Hank Was Ineligible

Coley Hall, owner of the Vancouver Canucks, admitted yesterday that his club had used an ineligible player throughout the 1959-60 Western Hockey League season—Hank Bassen, who was selected as the goalkeeper on the all-star club.

This first came to light two weeks ago during the National Hockey League draft, when Detroit Red Wings claimed Bassen for the $20,000 draft price and Eddie Shore, owner of the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League, protested.

Shore owned Bassen's contract and under hockey rules, the NHL cannot draft players from the AHL. But Bassen had been transferred to the WHL illegally and it appears that Bassen will go to Detroit and, likely, turn up in the nets of for Edmonton Flyers next season.

The only method to get a player from the AHL to the WHL without asking for waivers is for a NHL club to call up a player from the AHL, play him, and then option him to the WHL. Somehow, Bassen went directly from the Springfield roster to Vancouver. That made him ineligible, and also subject to the draft.

In Seattle, WHL president Al Leader said that as far as his office was concerned, Bassen was eligible for the draft and would so rule if asked for a decision.

—BILL ROBINSON, who played on Allan Cup winners with Quebec Aces in 1944 and Ottawa Senators in 1949 and who was with Seattle Americans of the Western Hockey League in 1955-56, has been named as the new coach of Winnipeg Warriors. Manager of the amateur Winnipeg Maroons last year, Robinson succeeds Bill Mosienko . . .

rightwinger Eric Nesterenko of Chicago Black Hawks said yesterday that he doesn't think he will return to the National Hockey League next season and was "definitely not interested in playing in the minor leagues. Nesterenko, who is trying out with Toronto Argos of the Big Four football league, said "I just don't hit it off with Rudy (Chicago coach) Plous."

REIDER GETZ, former Victoria tennis star now playing out of Vancouver, suffered a badly sprained ankle yesterday and had to default his match to Francois Goudout in the opening round of the Canadian Davis Cup trials. He trailed, 2-6, 4-4, 3-4 at the time . . . Gus Kyle will be back as coach of Calgary Stampers of the Western Hockey League . . .

Promoter Dave Rush said yesterday the July 18 fight between Archie Moore and Erich Schnepfer for the world lightweight title has been postponed . . . Skier Ann Heggtveit has been named to Canada's sports Hall of Fame . . . Jockey Redley Woodhouse has been set down by stewards at Aqueduct for the remainder of the Belmont meeting for showing up Wednesday unfit to ride.

Victoria Park In Hollywood

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (CP)—Victoria Park, the Canadian colt that finished third in the Kentucky Derby and second in the Preakness, will run in the $100,000 Hollywood Derby.

Owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, the three-year-old son of Chop Chop will arrive at Hollywood Park late this month. Earlier this month Victoria Park won the Queen's Plate at Toronto.

Income Tax Bite Delays Rematch

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson have a problem that should happen to everyone.

They would like to fight again within 90 days and earn maybe $1,000,000. But they may not be able to afford it this year because of the tremendous income tax bite.

The two young heavyweights, recrowned champion Patterson and dethroned Johansson, may have earned record purses of $1,000,000 apiece for their bout Monday night.

The answer to whether there will be a rubber match this year likely will be furnished by their financial advisers.

The fight, in which Patterson regained the world title by flattening the Swede in the fifth round, lured 31,892 fans and $824,891 to the Polo Grounds.

Irving Kahn, president of TelePrompTer, which handled the closed-circuit television, movies and radio, said the extras will gross about $3,000,000. Of this, the fighters would collect between $800,000 and $900,000 each, in addition to $175,000 each from gate receipts.

Gene Tunney set a record high of $990,445 for his second fight with Jack Dempsey, at Chicago, in 1927, an era in which income taxes were nothing compared to what they are today.

At separate press conferences Tuesday, Johansson and Patterson said they would like the rematch within 90 days. The promoting Feature Sports Incorporated is more than anxious to oblige.

Steady Four-Hitter Subdues Olsons, 8-1

Wakeman Trimble, behind steady but unimpressive pitching, trimmed Olsons, 8-1, in Senior Amateur Baseball League play last night at Royal Athletic Park.

Mike Ash pitched a four-hitter, struck out six and the only trouble he got into came in the sixth when Bob Holmes doubled in an unearned run. Norm Curran, making his first appearance of the season, hit three-for-five for the winners.

Basilio's Boy Whips Fuller

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Dickie Diveronica, a protégé of Carmen Basilio from Syracuse, N.Y., scored a split decision over Jay Fuller, brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fuller, in a 10-round bout Wednesday night. Fuller weighed 136½ pounds, Diveronica 135½.

San Marino, Calif., 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Second-seeded Barry Mackay of Daytona eliminated Adrian Bey of Rhodesia 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

First-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia also had an easy ride, beating Dutchman Willem Maris 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Third-seeded Rod Laver of Australia swamped Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. Laver never lost a service game.

The gloomy American picture was relieved by Janet Hopps of Seattle. In one of the few second round women's matches of the day, Miss Hopps surprised Suzy Kormoczy, a 38-year-old Budapest housewife, 6-3, 3-6, 9-7.

Mrs. Kormoczy, the sixth seed, was the first seeded player to fall in either the men's or women's singles.

Karen Hantze of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Dorothy Head Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis defeated John Cranston,

The 46-year-old Miami veteran drubbed Britain's top ranking Mike Davies, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, in a centre court battle of two tennis generations.

Mulloy—his crew-cut hair now a battlement grey—called on the craft and skill gained in more than a quarter of a century of competition. Davies, 24 and strong as a young lion, chased from corner to corner, strained for volleys just beyond the reach of his racket and sometimes shook his head in wonder as Mulloy sent over a smoking drive of remarkable power.

From an American point of view this victory by Mulloy was one of the few bright spots in a day which saw the nine first-round survivors from the United States reduced to four. Eighteen Yanks began play Monday.

Pro Tennis Stars May Join Amateurs

LONDON (Special) — Wimbledon, shrine of amateur tennis and the world's biggest "prestige" tournament, comes face to face with its most critical decision in history. Within a few days after the end of the current two-week meeting on the lush green all-England club courts the international lawn tennis federation will meet in Paris to decide the course, and perhaps the fate, of amateur tennis.

World tennis leaders, including Wimbledon officials, must decide on revolutionary new proposals made by the four major tennis associations—Britain, France, the United States and Australia—to authorize a new classification of amateur player and to introduce tournaments open to both amateurs and professionals.

IN AGREEMENT

For several months now these two proposals have been under intense study and on one, at least, the four major associations appear to be in basic agreement although they are far from being unanimous on all points. France led the fight for open tournaments and the other three bodies are at least willing to experiment along this line during the 1961 season.

It is not a new idea but a rather drastic step to bring much-needed co-ordination and a renewed interest into tennis. For several years world leaders—both amateur and professional—have advocated tournaments in which professionals and amateurs play side by side, but there has until now been opposition in the right places and by the right people.

LONG OVERDUE

Certainly the introduction of open tournaments is long overdue in the face of attendance troubles and the general decline of world amateur tennis standards. There should be few doubts that a meeting between Pancho Gonzalez or Lew Hoad and a leading amateur star would prove a sounder financial attraction and provide the maximum entertainment to spectators.

But there are some serious snags awaiting the Paris delegates. Wimbledon officials, as well as other international tournament chiefs, have indicated they are not prepared to pay out additional prize money to professionals. They would compete for the $270 now offered and receive "adequate expenses." Understandably enough, Jack Kramer, the outspoken and hard-dealing impresario of the pros, has stated that his players won't play "for nothing" and has indicated that they would "boycott" such tournaments.

POOR START

This is a discouraging start to a bold plan that deserves a chance to succeed. Prestige means little to a professional where there is little or no financial reward attached, and most of Kramer's troupe have already tasted the fruits of success at Wimbledon and other major tournaments. It would be ludicrous to expect the dollar-conscious business player to spend two weeks at Wimbledon if he could be earning money elsewhere.

The open tournament, however, would give the amateur players a far bigger incentive and would, in time, raise the general calibre far beyond its present standard. It would also encourage the young net enthusiasts to work far harder in striving to climb the tennis ladder in the hope of pulling down the cash when they got there.

The question of authorized players will not be settled as easily, no matter what difficulties arise over open tournaments. Here, the United States and Australia are strongly opposed to a new type of player proposed by France and Britain. According to the president of the international association, the authorized player could receive year-round unlimited expenses from member bodies but he would not be permitted to receive anything above the normal prize money.

It would at least eliminate much of the sham-amateurism prevalent in world tennis today but it would not eliminate the recognized distinction—recognized at least a number of years ago—between amateur and professionals. While it would "legalize" under-the-table expenses it would still make mockery of the true concept of amateurism.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Cowichan Lake should be fished more by Victorians because it is an easily accessible lake with miles and miles of shoreline beaches and good fishing. Accommodation has been limited in past years, but there are now several cabin resorts at the lower end, and most of them, including Sunset Auto Park, Cedar Cabins and Blome's Lakeside Resort are now offering accommodation for tenters. For those with good-sized trailer boats there are many good shoreline camping spots on the upper lake.

Access is not a big problem on Cowichan and there are a number of places to launch boats including near the government wharf at the lower end immediately above the weir, Cedar Cabins and several other boat rental places. Hillcrest Lumber at Bear Lake has a place where launching can be done and at the westerly end of the lake above Caycuse there is an opening where boats can be put in the water. Island Marina at Youbou has a proper boat launching ramp and boats may be launched at Gordon Bay above Honeymoon Bay.

Sandy Lett, scoutmaster of Fifth Camosun Troop, had a stroke of luck the other day which comes only to a few persons. He had a group of scouts on an outdoor trip to Youngs Lake in the Sooke district. He was showing them how to use a spinning reel and on his first cast reeled in a small-mouth bass. On his second cast he caught a trout.

Now he is looking for a lake further up-Island that will provide just as hot fishing and also has a spot where a Boy Scout troop could camp.

Ted Barsby, past president of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs says that cougar meat makes the best hamburgers he has tasted. He describes it as tasting somewhat between veal and pork.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association member Conrad Samer was one of scores of holidaymakers who were disappointed to hear there will be no camping at Smith's Landing on Sproat Lake this summer.

The provincial government parks branch will hold a big opening June 30 at Smith's Landing, which has been transformed into the province's finest picnic ground and renamed Sproat Lake Provincial Park. But, there will be no camping now.

Samer had already made plans for a camping trip at the park starting July 1. Seven different groups of tenters, some from Vancouver, were included in the plans. As they have done for several years, they planned to pitch their tents in a group.

The group was to have three or four speedboats for a week of water skiing.

"I have seen 90 tents pitched there. I don't know where we will go now," Samer said. "There is no place that I know of like Smith's Landing. I like to open my tent flap and see the water."

But, next year Samer's problem may be solved. The parks branch has plans for a big provincial campsite further down the lake past Klitsa Lodge.

A word of warning. The young pheasants have now hatched and are appearing on the highways. Motorists should keep a lookout for them and drive accordingly. If they slow down the young pheasants usually can cross the road safely. If the motorists continue at a fast pace, the pheasants panic. Already a number of dead pheasant chicks have been observed on the Malahat.

Chicago street barricade is no problem for Jesse Owens, 45, who proves he hasn't slowed down much since 1935 when he set three world records and tied fourth in track and field.

Drugs in Cough Medicine Cancel Lansdowne Racing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Because drugs were used to combat a coughing epidemic among horses at Lansdowne track here today's racing card was cancelled.

Officials said racing will resume Friday with an abbreviated seven-race card.

They said the coughing epidemic has almost cleared up. But the horses were treated with various drugs and racing rules say a horse may not race until 48 hours after receiving drugs.

They said they hoped to have a regular eight-race card Monday.

None of the horses were being withdrawn from the track and any danger of a shortage of horses would be overcome by the arrival shortly of horses from the United States.

It is the first time a B.C. day of racing has been cancelled due to sickness among the horses.

"We could scarcely have filled one race, let alone eight," said racing secretary Mannie Keller. "We had no option but to call off the Thursday card."

It is expected that for the balance of the Lansdowne meeting there will be seven-race cards on week days and eight-race cards on Saturdays. Monday the card was reduced to seven races from eight because of lack of entries.

As far as is known, the coughing epidemic is a local situation as Alberta, Washington and Oregon race meets are being held without interruption.

Resumption of racing on Friday will also provide an introduction of a new betting method known as "Exacto," already in use in Ontario.

It would be a separate pool

Bowling All Night And All Day Too

Twenty-eight bowlers are taking things easy and getting plenty of sleep these days as they prepare themselves for what is billed as the world's first 50-game fivepin marathon tomorrow night at Esquimalt Bowladrome.

Top bowlers from Vancouver and Victoria, they begin the grind at 10.30 p.m. and will bowl non-stop until they drop or finish their 50th game. Estimated time of finish is about 7 p.m. Saturday. At stake will be $125 for the winner and 16 other prizes.

Reeve A. C. Wurtelle of Esquimalt will roll the first ball in opening ceremonies at 10.15, and other representatives of the municipal council will also be on hand.

Heading the list of bowlers, all of whom are sponsored by Victoria and Vancouver merchants, will be Nick Bailey of Vancouver, the top average bowler with a mark of about 260. Other Vancouver entries are Ernie Digney and Mel Arthurs.

Among the Victoria entries are Norm Martin, Elwood Smith, Frank Morgan, Bill McKay, Bob McLeod, Harry Cool, Harr. Smith, Bill McKinnon, Herb Hunt, Derrick Leonard, Reg Vaggoner, Ron Chamberlin, King Lee, Arnie Gibson, Vic Harrison, Gary Roskamp, Frank Fairless, Norman Dicks and Bill McLaughlin.

Prizes will be presented immediately after the final game.

Three City Golfers In Ladies' Semis

Three Victoria ladies advanced to the semi-finals of the B.C. Close golf tournament at Uplands Golf Club yesterday, while a fourth, Mrs. Joan Lawson, was eliminated in the finest round of the day.

Mrs. Shirley Naysmith and Mrs. A. DeGirolamo of Gorge Vale and Mrs. Margaret Todd of Victoria Golf Club are all in today's semis, along with Colleen Smith of Vancouver Point Grey.

Mrs. Naysmith beat Mrs. Joan Campbell of Vancouver, 4 and 3. Mrs. Todd downed B.C. junior champion Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver, 4 and 3, and Mrs. DeGirolamo advanced with a 3 and 2 win over Mrs. M. Hutton-Potts of Vancouver.

Miss Smith's match with Mrs. Lawson wasn't settled until the 17th, when the Vancouver shotmaker won out, 2 and 1. Assuming each would take a par five on the 18th, Miss Smith would have had a round of 77, Mrs. Lawson, 79. Mrs. Lawson got off to a shaky start, three-putting the first hole. Miss Smith was three up after sinking a 30-foot putt on the eighth green. Mrs. Lawson then won the ninth, lost the 10th, and won the 11th with a birdie two.

She cut the margin to two down on the 13th, when Miss Smith three-putted, but the next three holes were halved and Miss Smith put the match away on the 17th green with a birdie three.

Mrs. Naysmith was five up over Mrs. Campbell at the 10th, lost the 11th and 14th, and took a birdie three on the 15th to win.

Mrs. Todd's victory over Miss Hitchens came in surprisingly easy fashion, as the Vancouver youngster continued to get good distance on her drives but had nothing but trouble on her short game.

In this morning's semi-finals, Mrs. Naysmith will meet Miss Smith and Mrs. Todd will play Mrs. DeGirolamo.

Hitler to NATO to Fairytale

Sennelager Haunted By Soldiers of Past

(Eileen Learoyd is visiting Canadian Army and RCAF personnel in Europe, and their families.)

By EILEEN LEAROYD

SENNELAGER, Germany—This is the camp where Kaiser Wilhelm and Adolf Hitler trained their armies for battle. Here is a special tower Hitler erected so that Mussolini could see the power of the German army.

Now on this training ground I am seeing Canadian troops training for defence under nuclear conditions.

"This is in the Soest area where all units of the Canadian brigade are located in nine 'forts'."

Everything is sand and underfoot, but here are many trees and flanking forests. This was not a natural desert—it has been made so by soldiers and their armament using it for tactics.

My personal feeling about Sennelager is a shiver.

It seems haunted by the armies of the past. Their voices are heard in the saying of the German soldiers which has been passed on to the NATO armies now here: "Gott in seinem Zorn schuf die Senne" bei Paderborn—"God in His wrath created the Sennelager near Paderborn."

We saw Sennelager in style, travelling with double escort of provost, behind the car of a most important man touring the area. He is commander-in-chief of the British Army of the Rhine, Gen. Sir James Cassels, who is also "overlord" of the Canadian, German and Belgian forces here, too.

The army even arranged a code word for myself and the German reporter I am with—"Butterfly."

We saw a platoon attack to support an atomic strike. The "bomb" sent a flash 200 feet into the air.

Sennelager is not flat, and there were times I wished heartily that I had a seasickness pill. We toured from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., part of the time over battle courses in jeeps.

At lunchtime we suddenly stopped under the trees to find a marquee, small tables set up and stewards in white jackets serving. In an unexpected gesture, the general beckoned to my German friend and me to sit at his table, where we lunched with him and Brig. D. C. Cameron, senior Canadian Army officer in Europe.

So—just 10 days from Victoria—I am sitting at the edge of a German forest listening to C-in-C Rhine discuss polo playing in India and the Seaforts of Canada—of which he is honorary colonel.

The general pointed to a forest in the distance.

"That is the forest of Teutoburger, where Hansel and Gretel were lost."

It is quite a day—from Hitler to NATO to fairytale.

Human Secretaries Replacing Machine

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg school board is replacing an electronic secretary used to record telephone calls with two human secretaries.

The machine has been handling night calls from teachers reporting they would be unable to attend school the following day.

James Duncan, the board's administrative assistant, said most such calls are concentrated in the hour before classes start and "two girls on the phone can take the calls faster. Besides, some of the teachers don't speak too clearly and the machine doesn't say 'I beg your pardon.'"

Keith Alan Hughes

Victoria Native Storm's Victim

Keith Alan Hughes, 20, native of Victoria and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Hughes, 3670 Elliston, was one of four B.C. Forest Service employees drowned this week in a sudden storm on a northern B.C. lake.

The four members of a forest inventory team, working out of Fort St. James, were returning from a trip up Stuart Lake when they were evidently caught in the fierce storm.

OTHER VICTIMS

Also drowned were Bruce George Nielson, 25, of Vancouver, UBC graduate and leader of the team; Henry Laurence Burnham, 21, of Trail, a second-year UBC arts student, and Allan Lester Pountney, 21, also of Vancouver.

The bodies were to be flown to Vancouver last night.

Keith Hughes attended Beacon Hill, Cloverdale, S. J. Willis and Mount View High schools, and Victoria University for a year.

Before taking the forestry job two months ago, he had been employed with B.C. Telephone Co. and had spent two summers as a youth crew member with the forest service.

He was a member of the YMCA, and an ardent hunter and fisherman.

Surviving are his parents and two sisters, Georgina, now training at Royal Jubilee Hospital where Mrs. Hughes is a nurse, and Mrs. Robert Kirk, 1755 Coronation.

New STRIPE

gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash

This is the remarkable story of new Stripe toothpaste, that gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Ever since scientists discovered that germs cause tooth decay and bad breath, they have been trying to develop a protective toothpaste. They know that ordinary toothpaste is not an effective germ-killer. It does wash some of the germs away. But those left behind soon multiply into millions.

The answer: hexachlorophene

The answer was discovered in an effective germ-killer called hexachlorophene. During World War II, surgeons found hexachlorophene far more effective than traditional methods of cleansing their hands before operations, yet so gentle it could be used with complete safety. They also learned that hexachlorophene clings to the skin, keeping germs away between washings.

Now in a toothpaste

Now Lever Brothers' scientists have developed a way to put hexachlorophene to work in a toothpaste—an effective new red-and-white toothpaste called Stripe. Rigorous testing shows that Stripe with hexachlorophene—

- kills tooth decay germs better than any plain white toothpaste.
- kills bad breath germs too, giving you mouthwash protection.

In this way, Stripe gives you the benefits of toothpaste plus mouthwash.

Clings to mouth surfaces

Moreover, Stripe's hexachlorophene clings to the surfaces inside your mouth for hours.

It keeps fighting germs between brushings... for hour after hour... as clearly proved in clinical tests.

And Stripe's hexachlorophene penetrates between the teeth... where tooth decay and bad breath often start... and where your brush can't reach.

Stripe is 100% sugar-free, and completely safe for children of all ages. In fact, children are so fascinated by the way Stripe comes out of the tube in red and white stripes that they brush longer and more often than ever before.

Remember, the exclusive red stripes identify Lever Brothers' hexachlorophene toothpaste. Get Stripe for your family today.

When you see these red stripes—you know you are getting germ-killing HEXACHLOROPHENE

The performance and quality of Stripe toothpaste are unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Limited.

Woman Found Dead In Goodacre Lake

Early-rising city park workers found the body of a Victoria woman floating in Goodacre Lake, Beacon Hill Park, at 4.30 a.m. yesterday.

The body, recovered by city police, was identified as that of Marie Hobson, 60, who was reported missing at 10.30 a.m. yesterday from a nearby rest home.

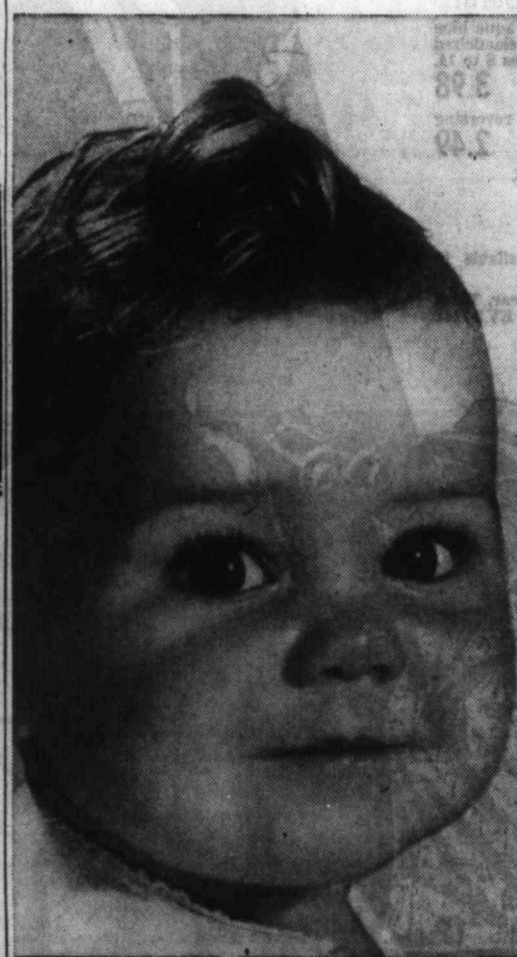

Joseph Newmiller, 1134 Yates, and James E. Wilson, 86 Maddock West, found the body underneath the stone bridge.

Some Confusion

No Fanfare As Cabinet Adopts Flag

With a marked lack of fanfare and only moderate confusion, B.C. yesterday became the third province in Canada to have its own official flag.

Utterly gone and, the government hopes, completely forgotten, is the design introduced by the provincial secretary at the last legislative session — a design combining B.C.'s snowcapped peaks with a dogwood blossom, the provincial crest, two stately Douglas firs, the sea, a pulp mill and a thumbnail sketch of suburbia.

By an order-in-council passed Monday at Creston but not made official until yesterday, when it got the belated signature of Premier Bennett, B.C. has adopted a 1906 design which the premier discovered on a recent trip to Britain.

It bears the Union Jack with crown centred, above a sea of blue and white, against which spreads what is described as a "never-setting sun."

The new flag almost failed to become official yesterday when it was suddenly discovered that the order-in-council covering its formal adoption had apparently been overlooked by the premier when he signed others passed at Creston.

The order was flown to Vancouver earlier yesterday, where the premier affixed his signature, and flown back to Victoria late in the afternoon.

Sea Fine at Last For Island Tug

For the first time since Island Tug and Barge started its current series of trans-Pacific tows a year ago, fine weather has prevailed for most of the trip.

Officials said last night Cambrian Salvor, with a merchant ship and a tanker in tow, was approaching the coast of Japan. Sudbury II, with two Liberty ships in tow, is nearing the international date line also bound for Japan.

Both skippers report seas are "table-top smooth" and officials have their fingers crossed that good weather will hold until the tows are delivered to scrapyards.

Colwood Water Fight Delays Chamber Vote

Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce last night postponed indefinitely election of officers for 1960—pending a Public Utilities Commission hearing on an application by the Greater Victoria water board to increase water rates.

The chamber is preparing a brief opposing the application and members last night felt the present officers should remain in office until the hearing has been held.

No date has been set for an election.

'In Many Homes the Best View Is from the Bathroom Window'

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Greater Victoria architects in future will praise more than criticize.

Victoria chapter of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, meeting at the home of Walter Ekins, deplored recent public statements from architects that much of Victoria's new housing is "strawberry box."

They were critical, too, of a recent cross-Canada architectural survey, which termed in public, many of Canada's new homes dull, boring and rubberstamp.

The local architects agree in private that many new houses are "strawberry boxes," that they're dull, boring and rubberstamp, and ruining the natural beauty of the countryside.

But, nonetheless, they feel it would be better if architects pointed to good examples of good architecture, rather than tearing apart the bad ones.

"People don't like being told something they've bought with hard-earned money is bad," said one architect. "It puts their backs up. Then architects must spend hours, perhaps years, beating down prejudice against them."

Architect John Wade said

Victoria is unique as far as architecture is concerned, because many elderly people come here to retire. They don't want the challenge, a bother to them, of dealing with a home of their own design, or something different. They buy anything as long as it's easy.

Mr. Wade said architects should not entirely ignore the past, and said that he himself lives in a home designed nearly 50 years ago by the famous Sam McClure, architect for Hatley Park, home of James Dunsinuir, and many of the more substantial older homes in this area.

"I sometimes think architects should be like doctors, who never prescribe for their own families. Architects, when building homes, should get other architects to design them—they should never design their own," Mr. Wade said.

Another architect said: "In many homes in Greater Victoria the best view is from the bathroom window."

"The interior of a man's home is his own business—but what he does to the outside, to the natural surroundings, should be public business. The appearance of some homes amounts to a public nuisance," said Victoria chapter chairman Peter N. Cotton.

The architects were generally critical of municipal councils for not being severe enough when it comes to aesthetic beauty, because perhaps they want taxes more than beauty.

In Saanich, said one architect, "they don't even plan for tomorrow, let alone for next week or next year."

The architects felt that in Victoria homes should be permitted closer to the street, suitably fenced, so that a much larger, private garden could be created at the rear.

By forcing people to build 25 feet back from the sidewalk, the architects felt, city fathers force home-owners to create beauty that should be the responsibility of the city.

This Isn't Election—Liquor Outlets Open

Today will be a "wet" voting day in Victoria as ratepayers go to the polls for the $1,000,000 mill vote, liquor control board officials said last night.

Unlike an election, a money bylaw does not require the closure of liquor stores, beer parlors, cocktail lounges or suspension of beverage serving in licensed dining rooms.

Committee Reports:

Delinquency Shows Need For New Detention Home

Juveniles Held In Jail

A new juvenile detention home is needed to cope properly with an increasing number of juvenile delinquents in Greater Victoria, the detention home committee says in its annual report, received yesterday at City Hall.

Although the present home on Coldharbour Road was closed for a month in 1959, the report says, 130 children were admitted, 15 more than in the full 12 months of 1958.

FACILITIES LACKING

But in addition, it says, 78 juveniles were detained in the city jail, compared with 46 in 1958, and "rightfully these 78 juveniles should have been detained in the juvenile detention home, and no doubt they would have been, had proper security and segregation facilities been available."

The report notes that according to assistant city engineer Roderick Clack, the present building "does not lend itself to serve satisfactorily as a juvenile home . . . and any modifications required to meet proper segregation and security needs would prove a very costly undertaking."

ESTIMATE: $72,000

It quotes Mr. Clack as estimating cost of a suitable new building at $72,000, based on 1959 costs and excluding land acquisition and furnishing.

"It is the hope of this committee that a new detention home has not been sidetracked and overlooked and that every effort will be made to proceed toward the construction of a new home embracing all the necessary requirements," it says.

Ferry Sought Farther Up

A request for a direct ferry service between the tip of Saanich Peninsula and Cowichan Bay area will be made by the Sidney-North Saanich Chamber of Commerce to the provincial government.

The chamber feels with ferries running into the Swartz Bay and Sidney a more direct route from north of the Malahat would be desirable.

Present ferries link Brentwood with Mill Bay.

Oaklands Gives School Awards

Robert Rogers, leading student at Oaklands Elementary School, was presented with a wrist watch at year-end ceremonies yesterday.

Other students who received awards during the annual prize-giving ceremony were Ian McKenzie, Grade 1; Grant Reynolds, Grade 2; Ann Hillyer, Grade 3; Shelly Dodds, Grade 4; Leona Jickling, Grade 5; and Brent Cutforth, Grade 7.

'Closer to Christ'

33 Churches Join In Revival Drive

Some 25 Greater Victoria churches—Presbyterian, United, Anglican and Baptist—last night agreed to combine in a drive to bring Christians into a deeper involvement in Christ's work.

Almost 150 persons, representing 33 different churches in Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Sidney attended a dinner meeting in Victoria to hear details of the sector plan.

MORE EXPECTED

Of the 33 churches represented, representatives of 25 signed forms committing their congregations, totalling almost 9,000, to taking part in the revival. More churches are expected to join this week.

The churches have combined to conduct campaigns within their own religious frameworks, to cut costs.

TIME, TREASURE

"We are seeking a commitment of time, talents and treasure for the work of God," Rev. Gordon Walker, area director, said last night.

"The churches of Greater Victoria are mobilizing with a common purpose—to bring Christians into a deeper involvement in Christ's work."

FOUR GROUPS

He said the organization of the plan involves four committees—program, resources, materials and visitation committee.

The program committee plans the needs of the church for the coming year—workers, financial and other needs. The resources committee lists all persons associated with the congregation and their specific abilities and talents applicable to the carrying out of the program.

SEEK HELP

The materials committee handles all printing and pamphlet needs of the drive. The visitation committee enlists and trains persons to visit families listed by the resources committee to seek their help. Rev. Angus Jack of Vancouver, addressing the meeting, said "faith" is not an empty word.

"It means a man's commitment of himself, his personality, to what he believes in. Why should we give? Because all that we have and all that we are belongs to God."

NEW SPIRIT

"I have studied this program very thoroughly for three years and I have put it to work in my congregation, and I can tell you it has brought a very different spirit to my congregation."

"The spirit of God is working in the congregation to the glory of God."

Whose Expense

Free Scribblers Explanation Asked

Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee, still not entirely happy about Grade 1 school children being given free pencils and scribblers, will invite a school board representative to come to its next meeting to discuss the situation.

Fog, Smoke In Saanich

Saanich Peninsula residents reported a heavy smoke and haze covering most of the area last night.

The heavy cover, described as "throat seking" by one resident, was probably a mixture of fog and smoke, the weather office reported.

Light fog was reported near Race Rocks and in some low-lying areas early this morning. No reports of fires were received.

Cougar Sought In Metchosin

Predator hunter James Dewar of the provincial game department will continue his search for sign of cougar in the Metchosin area for at least two more days.

Game inspector Robert Sinclair said no evidence of cougar has been found. But a number of reports by residents have been received by police that cougar are in the area.

The committee earlier this year objected to the supplies being given to the children if the gift was at municipal taxpayers' expense. Yesterday it learned from the education department that the gift was at provincial expense. The department approves expenditures of up to $7.50 per pupil for supplies which are not exactly defined, a letter said.

STILL CONCERNED

But the committee still appeared concerned about the expenditures.

"It looks almost as if they (the school board) were looking around for some way to spend this money," said Ald. Austin Curtis.

Inter-municipal committee also:

● Recommended that the Greater Victoria councils consider the advisability of studying a joint purchasing system. "It seems to me," said Mayor Percy Scurrell, "that we could work out a scheme of buying together and save ourselves some money—considerable money, I should think."

● Decided to take no action on the offer of the B.C. Turf and Country Club to publicize some Victoria event or activity with a special "day at the races."

● Supported an Island Transmission Company Ltd. application to the National Energy Board for an order establishing lower rates for natural gas to be delivered to Vancouver Island.

For "something borrowed" the bride wore a pearl and net headdress and shoulder-length veil belonging to her sister, Mrs. P. E. Moir, who was also her matron of honor.

The bride's gown of white organza was ballerina length with a full skirt. She carried a white Bible topped with a mauve orchid.

Mrs. Moir, the only attendant, chose a dress of emerald green with mauve trimmings and white accessories. White

Tinkling Iced Coffee

Iced Coffee Easy And Refreshing

There are several easy ways to make full-flavored iced coffee. One excellent way is by brewing coffee extra-strength and pouring it hot into ice-filled glasses. To brew coffee for this method, use half a measuring cup of water to one standard coffee measure (or two level measuring table-spoons) of coffee for each serving. These proportions apply no matter which brewing method you use.

EFFORTLESS ICED COFFEE
At its best, iced coffee should be the same strength as hot coffee. An effortless way to make it is this: Brew extra breakfast coffee and cool it. Freeze it into coffee ice cubes, turning temperature control to coldest point for quick freezing. Then make iced coffee anytime by simply pouring regular strength coffee into glasses filled to the top with coffee ice cubes. You can be sure your iced coffee will be all coffee, through and through!

One of the quickest and best ways to produce a glass of iced coffee in a moment is by using instant coffee. In the bottom of a tall glass, put twice as much instant coffee as you would use for a cup. Dissolve it in a little cold water. Fill the glass to the top with ice cubes, add more water and stir thoroughly. Drink and enjoy!

You may enjoy your iced coffee with cream and a touch of sweetening. The best way to sweeten iced coffee is with simple syrup—equal amounts of sugar and water, stirred and boiled for seven minutes and cooled. The syrup keeps indefinitely in the refrigerator. These cookies are just right with iced coffee.

DAISY COOKIES

One cup soft butter or margarine, ½ cup sugar, 2½ cups sifted, enriched flour. Mix butter and sugar together thoroughly. Stir in flour. Mix thoroughly. Chill dough. Roll out ¼ to ½ inch thick. Cut with floured daisy cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Place semi-sweet chocolate piece in centre of each cookie. Bake in slow oven, 300°, 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 4 dozen cookies.

If there's something else in your refrigerator that you think might go well with potato salad, why not try it? Perhaps you'll discover a wonderful new flavor combination.

GREEN SALAD

Make a green salad as follows: choose the salad green you prefer (a good variety is available at this time of year) and make sure it is fresh and crisp. Wash under cold water and drain and shake dry. It is preferable to tear the leaves into the bowl rather than cut them and it's just as easy. Now your green salad is all ready for flavorful additions and dressing.

Add any of the following: crumbled Roquefort cheese, salt and pepper; wedges or slices of cucumber and tomato; slivers of celery or cheese; thinly sliced radishes or raw mushrooms; small cauliflower flowerets; crisply fried bacon crumbled into bits; minced green onions or snipped chives. French dressing is best with green salads but the seasoning may be varied with the following: herbs such as basil, mar-

WHAT'S COOKING

Help yourself to a potato salad; or perhaps you would prefer a green salad with a piquant French dressing? That chicken salad looks good, too!

These and other salads can be arranged in bowls on a large tray or on the table itself so that your family or guests may simply pick and choose and help themselves. They may take a serving of two or three different salads or simply take one whole salad. You can have two or three bowls of the same type of salad or you can make one or two basic salads and vary them with other ingredients.

POTATO SALAD

Make a potato salad as follows: to 6 cups cooked diced potatoes add 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. This will serve six.

Add any one or two of the following ingredients: chopped onion or chives; slices of hard cooked meat or chicken; diced cheese; sliced or diced radishes, celery, unpeeled apple, green pepper, or cucumber.

or onion; horseradish; green or red pepper; crushed egg yolks.

Make a meat salad as follows: combine 2 cups diced cooked meat (chicken, turkey, pork), 1 cup diced celery, salt and pepper to taste and mayonnaise or salad dressing. This will serve six. Individualize each portion with one or more of the following: diced cucumber, green pepper or red pepper; chopped onion or chives; chopped olives; silvered almonds or chopped walnuts; chopped mushrooms, diced apple, pineapple or grapefruit.

Salads allow such scope to the imagination! Practically anything edible can go into a salad and all kinds of combinations are possible. So how about a summer resolution! Serve some type of salad everyday, either as an accompaniment to a main dish or as the heart of the meal itself!

INFANT FOODS

Canadian production of canned foods for infants and juniors reached 42,373,000 pounds in the first nine months of 1959.

Eggs Can Be Too Fresh

The price of eggs is seenawing. Quantities are so good that some are even being given away.

In one store customers are receiving a dozen eggs with every half pound of side bacon they buy, this week.

A useful hint I picked up on a recent tour of hatcheries on the mainland is that small eggs are a better buy than large ones. They are laid by younger hens, for one thing, and have less water content than large ones.

Even the Canadian government has caught on to this idea and changed the orders from large to medium-sized eggs for the armed forces.

Another important egg tip I had from Mr. Arne Krieger at his hatchery near Abbotsford is that eggs should be stored pointed-end down.

There is an air cell in the wider end of an egg which should stay at the top. As the egg gets older the air cell increases in size.

The egg industry is now so organized that it sometimes finds that eggs are too fresh for the market.

Fresh eggs do not peel well when hard-boiled and many restaurants and delicatessen stores prefer eggs to be at least 10 days old.

As eggs absorb flavors easily they should be kept covered in a refrigerator. This way they will keep for weeks, and still taste like an egg.

Summer and peak of the strawberry season usually coincide. We may not have noticed the arrival of summer this year but baskets of large and sweet berries catch the eye at every turn.

We seem to be lucky on the island with our crop. Local strawberries are really tasty. Price has dropped in the last day or so to 55 cents for two baskets. Let's make the most of them while they last.

Other delicious table fruits coming to us from California are Santa Rosa plums, down to 27 cents a pound, and peaches at two pounds for 29 cents. Local tomatoes cost 39 cents a pound.

New potatoes, dripping with butter, are a treat I look forward to for a long time. Local spuds are ready at last and are selling at 10 pounds for 79 cents. If you buy a few at a time you will find them fresh, firm and easy to peel, and really be able to enjoy them.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend and I work in the same office. I am prettier than she is (not bragging, just stating a fact), and she is better at witty conversation.

A certain fellow who works in the office has shown an interest in me. He buys me peanuts, winks when he passes my desk and we've been exchanging cute little notes. My witty girl friend has been writing the notes for me and I admit she comes up with lines I could never think of.

Now the fellow has asked me for a date and I'm scared. My girl friend has offered to be at my house when he arrives and set the stage by making him comfortable. She has also written down some clever phrases that can be used to liven up a conversation.

When I told her I didn't think it would work, she said, "There are very few original thinkers in this world." What do you think?—BOOLA.

Dear Boola: Cut out the ventriloquist act. Develop your own personality and don't try to graft your girl friend's wit on to your pretty face. It won't work.

You may not be able to produce any conversational gems but the one thing you can do better than anyone else in the world is BE YOURSELF.

Illegal Wedding?

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I are in a difficult spot. We were married secretly last summer. No one knows about this.

Our parents are expecting us to get married this fall. It would hurt them deeply if they knew we had run off and married without them. They are talking about big plans for a church wedding and we feel like common criminals. Is it against the law to get married a second time in a church after having been married once secretly?

We do want a church wedding and we hate to tell our parents about last summer. Please advise us.—MR. AND MRS.

Dear Mr. and Mrs.: There is nothing illegal about a church ceremony even though you've been married before—provided of course, you marry the same person.

Bad Business

Dear Ann Landers: My next-door neighbor has two dogs. I think they are starving. Both dogs are very thin and their bones actually stick out.

Several times in the past few weeks I have seen these pathetic creatures in the back yard and have given them some leftover meat. They now wag their tails whenever they see me, jump around and bark and greet me as a friend. I hate not to give them food because they seem to expect it.

My husband says I should mind my own business or I will get in bad with the neighbor. He says the dogs are not my responsibility. Please tell me what to do.—DO-GOODER.

Dear Do-Gooder: Tell your neighbor you like her dogs and you enjoy tossing them a piece of leftover meat "occasionally." Ask her if she has any objections. Chances are she will appreciate your interest and give you the okay.

There is more than one way to skin a cat—or feed a dog.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Kissing and Peeking—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Toastmistress Mrs. Gillis was introduced by Mrs. S. McCulloch. Topic, "Treasure Chest," was highlighted by table decorations and favors in a seaside motif.

JANET LEIGH
... guest columnist

Actress Fears for Youth

By JANET LEIGH
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There's a word in our social, vocational and political vocabulary which isn't used too much but the idea always seems to surround us oppressively. The word? Conformity.

The idea seems to be that success in almost any organization can be achieved best and sometimes only by adhering slavishly to the rules, not getting out of line, catering to the boss' thinking, doing as he does.

A number of books have been written along this line in the past few years and several motion pictures have been made using it as a theme. But, while I'm delighted for the authors, I fear for our younger generation.

When they hear and read, time after time, that slavish emulation of their seniors is proof of their loyalty and value to the company, they believe it. They don't realize—or seem to care—that such a road destroys their individuality and creativity.

To all of those who still have a somewhat open mind on the subject, I want to go on record as saying that I think the idea is a big hoax.

If I were advising youngsters how to "get ahead" or "become a success," I could put it in just three words: Be a rebel.

Maybe a lot of people have risen to the top of organizations by patiently plodding along in the footsteps of their supporters or predecessors. But if you look back through history, you'll find that the people who really distinguished themselves were those who dared to be individualists.

When I say, "Be a rebel," I'm talking in terms of ideas. Sloppy dress, a beard and quoting from 14th-century poets doesn't make a rebel. Neither does vulgar language or exhibitionism.

A rebel, in my mind, is one who has the courage to voice his convictions even though they go against the so-called "acceptable" ideas of his fellow men.

As I see it, you can find a general security by alertly mimicking your superiors and "following established policy" in any business.

But you can realize far greater success and, more importantly, self-respect, by shunning conformity and having the courage to be an individualist.

Guild Nets Profit

Victoria Theatre Guild has concluded another successful season.

Annual meeting Tuesday learned the most successful plays, financially, were "Toad of Toad Hall," a Christmas pantomime, and the last production of the season, "The Constant Wife."

Memberships neared 400 and, despite outlay of $2,800 for repairs to the theatre, a profit was made on the year.

Re-elected were president T. W. Mayne, vice-president Nora Kellie and treasurer, Frances Howarth. Donna Brousseau is new secretary. Other board members are Victor Mitchell, Vera Trueman, G. M. Hewlett, Mrs. P. H. Bishop, Gerald Guest, Mrs. Avis Walton, Grace Tuckey and Ken Bostock.

Hiking Sergeants Donate Boots To Army Museum

LONDON (UPI) — Two British sergeants who conquered America by walking from sea to shining sea, came home yesterday and gave their boots to a museum.

Sgt. Mervyn Evans, 33, and Sgt. Patrick Moloney, 34, arrived as heroes. Crowds cheered and top British and American military officers greeted them.

They were solemnly presented with a massive cake, topped by a boot sole of sugar.

The sergeants said the toughest part of their coast-to-coast trek was in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania, though they thought originally that it would be the Rockies.

They made the walk in 67 days, breaking the 24-year record by 12 days.

They denied a suggestion from marathon walker Dr. Barbara Moore that they had accepted lifts.

"It's ridiculous," Evans said. "It's out of the question. The prestige of the army, the air force and Britain was at stake."

"Before we went out we were told that we would have to have someone to safeguard against allegations like this and the American Legion observed us throughout the walk."

He said the boots they used will go on display at the Airborne Forces Museum.

Not Ballerina Yet

'Young Fonteyn' Returns to B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lynn Seymour, who left Vancouver six years ago as a chubby-faced 15-year-old schoolgirl, returned Wednesday to tell her family and childhood friends about her new life as senior soloist with Britain's Royal Ballet company.

"I'm not a ballerina," said Lynn, whose discovery was described by a British ballet critic as "the rebirth of a young Fonteyn."

She said her performance in the lead parts of the classic "Swan Lake" and "Giselle," the first Canadian to take the roles with the company, qualified her as a senior soloist but the title of ballerina belongs only to five members of company.

Until Margot Fonteyn or one of her fellow-ballerinas retires, no new member of the corps will be given the title, she said.

Miss Seymour, pert, raven-haired five feet, four inches, was able to tell her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Springbett, that her modest salary as one of the elite of the ballet world has been raised to $25 from her starting salary of $5 a week.

"I guess I could be earning much more doing something else in Canada, but I want to stay in the theatre and in England $25 is jolly good," she said.

Show Business

By DICK WILLIAMS

George Jessel possesses one of the best senses of humor in show business. The irrepressible George proves it in his new book, "Jessel Anyone?"—a collection of his stories and anecdotes.

George recounts how England honors its great actors by knighting them, but they seldom use the "Sir" in their billings. Jessel once asked Sir Cedric Hardwicke why he did not use the title on his programs.

Hardwicke insisted it was not due to modesty. He recalled he once opened a play in London with two other knighted actors in the cast.

While waiting for a cab after the opening performance, he heard a Cockney talking to his girl about the poster on the theatre front.

"Ow do you like that? Three bloomin' knights in the play!" "Ow about that?" the girl exclaimed. "And that's about 'ow long the show will run!"

U.K. Needs Recruits

Garden Notes

Make Picking Easier

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Picking fruit of any kind is a job involving considerable know-how, as I think anyone who has ever gone out to a Saanich berry or logan farm with a harvesting gang can testify. The old timers and professionals can pick rings around the raw amateur; moreover, they seem to get the job done with a lot less wear and tear on the human frame.

If you have much fruit to pick, a few simple and inexpensive pieces of equipment can go a long way to increase speed, efficiency and comfort on the job. With strawberries, for instance, you must get down to it, and to make this chore a bit easier, the wisest investment I ever made was to buy myself a pair of sponge rubber strap-on knee pads. Mine are three years old now and as good as new, and every year during the berry season I bless the day I saw the things in a store and bought them.

For the bush fruits—currants, gooseberries, raspberries and logans—my Lazy Gardener's equipment is simply an ancient wooden soap box to sit on, end up for the taller stuff and sideways for the berries closer to the ground, which brings me to just the right height to work in comfort. For the prickly stuff like gooseberries and blackberries, I have an old pair of leather gloves with the fingers cut off at the knuckles.

Another valued piece of picking equipment is a plastic bucket to hold the fruit. It doesn't bruise the fruit as hard metal might and it doesn't chip like enamel, yet it can be sterilized at the end of each day's picking with boiling water to prevent spores and moulds from spreading through the harvested crop.

Ideally, strawberries should be picked in the morning while they are still cool. Take about half an inch of stem with each berry, cutting the stem with the thumbnail pressed against the forefinger, and handle the berry itself as little as possible.

With gooseberries, the first pickings should be made when the berries are still quite small and green and are more in the nature of a thinning operation than the harvesting of a crop. Pick individual berries, thinning them out to permit the survivors to plump themselves up. The little green berries you pick are delicious when stewed with a few elderberry blossoms and I think they have a better flavor when preserved than the big fellows that come later, although they need more sugar.

If you sell your raspberries, pick them in the pink stage, for they travel better when a bit on the firm side. For immediate use and for a real taste treat, leave them on the canes until ripe enough for the plug to be left behind when you pull off the berry and pick in the cool of the morning. Very ripe berries can be used for jam.

Red and white currants are picked in bunches but, for this crop, early morning picking doesn't work out so well. Dew on the berries can ruin the harvested crop, so it is just as well to wait until they are dry. Black currants can be picked in the same way, but don't forget you have to prune the bushes right after the harvest. My Lazy Gardener's method is to combine picking and pruning in one operation.

When the berries are dead ripe, I cut out whole branches and toss them into a clothes basket. These are taken into the house, where the whole family gathers around the kitchen table, comfortably seated, to pick off the berries.

The trick with grapes is not to become impatient, but leave them on the vine until they take on a good color. A light autumn frost won't hurt them—in fact, a very gentle kiss of frost will make them all the sweeter.

Wretched Year Ahead

Here we are at the end end of another season, the year of the scandal, and on the whole it has been a wretched one. Next year looms—grey and unexciting, full of terribly safe situation comedies. They'll be all on film, of course, and they won't have to be funny since the laugh machine takes care of all that.

Eighty per cent of next year's programming, it looks now, will be on film, much of it showing a man with a gun shooting at somebody. Variety reports: "As television originates more and more vacate the

New York premises for Hollywood-made films, thus continuing to take up where major studios left off, the chances of embracing new forms of TV entertainment or anything resembling live creativity grow slimmer and slimmer.

"It's the TV networks themselves who have everything to lose under an all-celluloid pattern (for what need of a live show to feed the stations?), yet it is; the self-same networks who must shoulder the blame for today's all-out celluloid kick and for destroying the East-West balance."

All of NBC except Perry Como and "Price is Right" will come from the West Coast. All of ABC except "Naked City," a filmed show, will come out of California, most of it out of Warner Brothers. Only CBS will keep a respectable part of its schedule—about a quarter of it—coming out of New York City.

As usual, it is the public who is really going to get the worst of it. That is, that segment of the public which can't stand gooey situation comedies, doesn't like cowboys and isn't particularly interested in mayhem (which comprises everyone I know).

Uncle Miltie's Face Red

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Guest star Bing Crosby said, "No billing, please." So did Gene Kelly. But guest star Milton Berle wanted billing over Marilyn Monroe in "Let's Make Love."

Uncle Miltie was at the Drake Hotel in New York last week with wife Ruth and, ascending the elevator with a Chinese lady among other passengers, he whispered to Ruth, "I wonder what became of Anna Mae Wong?" Whereupon the Chinese lady said, "Hello, Mr. Berle, I'm Anna Mae Wong." Fadeout on a red face.

Walter Slezak is commuting 108,000 miles from his home in Larchmont, N.Y., to Hollywood for his "Chevy Mystery Series" which Walter hosts and narrates. He will fly to the coast on 19 consecutive weekends.

Karl Malden's wardrobe in "Parrish"—he plays a millionaire tobacco man "with monogrammed everything," says Karl—"is greater for this one picture than for the sum total of all my other films."

Here's the line-up for Jerry Wald's "Return to Peyton Place"—Joan Crawford, Suzy Parker and Mary Ure. Lana Turner will appear, but in a "walk-on" only.

The ex-Mrs. Marlon Brando has moved to a mansion in Brentwood, surrounded by a high wall, and with electronically controlled gates. But I doubt that all this will keep Marlon away when he wants to visit their son, Christian Dev.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

The other day I bought a new suit. What with one thing and another, it's been two or three years since I treated myself to a new summer suit; the last one was a light grey "tropical," which seemed all right until there finally came that certain moment when it became obvious that I couldn't go around looking like that any more. I simply had to go out and get a new suit.

At the store I discovered that this year charcoal grey summer suits are compulsory. There may have been other suits on sale, but I don't remember having seen any. When the suit arrived, my wife and I found sewn-in elaborate instructions for wash-and-wear and drip-dry.

Presumably this beautiful, elegant new suit of mine was to be crumpled up, thrown into the automatic washer, soaped, rinsed and wrung out like any old baby's diapers, then run through the automatic dryer, exposed to every conceivable kind of mechanical mistreatment and finally hung up to dry.

After all of which it would arise like Phoenix from the ashes and be as good as new, suitable for office, church, theatre, dinner with the boss and what not.

No Such Foolish Thing

Well, we were not going to do any such risky, foolish thing. When the time came for cleaning, we'd send this suit like all its predecessors to the cleaners and have it treated like a nice, respectable item of man's apparel.

But then Sunday morning arrived and I discovered that the suit had some nasty spots. It needed it desperately to wear on Monday morning. There it was, with the wash-and-wear label staring me in the face and the washing machine in the house ready for business.

The moment had come. Into the washing machine the suit went, emerging spotless and ready to be drip-dried within an hour. (We didn't go as far as the automatic dryer.) I wore it Monday morning. It looked like new.

Now there, I think, is one of the greatest inventions of the age. It has crept up on all of us and still keeps creeping up. In a few years, I suppose, all suits will be wash-and-wear and the revolution in our clothing will be complete. Everything we wear will simply be run through the washer and dryer, and the millennium will have come that much closer.

"Simplify! Simplify!" wrote Thoreau, sitting quietly in his hut at Walden Pond. But even he didn't foresee the wash-and-wear, drip-dry, charcoal grey business suit.

Montgomery in China

Old China Hurt By Aggression, Feudal System

(This is the fourth in a series of articles on Viscount Montgomery's visit to China.)

By FIELD MARSHAL VISCOUNT MONTGOMERY

Chou En-lai used two interpreters during the whole of our conversations, and he sent them both with me to Shanghai for my talk with Mao Tse-tung.

The chief one was his personal private secretary, Dr. Pu—a very clever young man who had been educated in the United States and had a degree from Harvard University. Dr. Pu spoke excellent English, and so did his assistant.

Both took down what we said; the actual interpretation, in English or in Chinese, was done by Dr. Pu—the assistant following carefully and intervening if a correction seemed necessary.

This method of interpretation, the use of two interpreters, interested me and I had not seen it before; it certainly proved effective and lessened the possibility of misunderstanding.

Before proceeding further I would like to analyze what Mao Tse-tung, Chou En-lai and other revolutionary leaders have achieved. I was last in China more than 30 years ago; those were the days of the old China. For very many years that old China has suffered severely from two troubles—external aggression in which perhaps we British were not altogether blameless, and internal oppression of a feudal nature.

The country was poor and backward, and remained so; to see.

Many suffered and died in the birth pangs of the new China, possibly millions; but very many more millions have profited. Out of evil, good is slowly developing.

The new China is determined to be master in her own lands, and to have freedom to plan her own destiny in her own way—without any outside interference of any sort.

There are great misconceptions in the Western world about this new China, particularly in the United States. Tourists from the United States go to Hong Kong and ask to be shown "Communist China"; they are taken up to the border and look across.

"The normal comment is then one of great surprise—"It all looks so quiet, so peaceful," One wonders what they expect to see.

Sunrise Fails Druids

Band Played On at Stonehenge

STONEHENGE, England (UPI)—It was the first day through their ancient ceremony of summer and the Druids, many before the age-old stones, kept looking at their wrist-watches, hoping the sun would come up like thunder at 4:24 a.m. It didn't. It was just a pale gray blur through the early morning mist that covered the anties of the 2,000 spectators who frolicked and necked in the grass and hollered at the Druids.

The more athletic of the spectators made their way to the top of the house-high circle of stones that forms a spectacular ruin whose origin is lost in history.

The crowd laughed and some turned up their portable radios louder. Many in the crowd were equipped with radios.

"This is wretched," McGregor-Reid said. "I have never seen Stonehenge so badly treated."

But policemen at the scene commented that it was better than a few years ago when young army officers routed the Druids by heaving explosive but harmless cardboard hand grenades into the circle.

And while the Druids looked anxiously toward the east, the Southampton University jazz band blared "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

The Druids vainly waved oak twigs and shepherd's crooks to summon the sun. A glance at the watch, and it was clear 4:24 a.m. had passed.

DONALD GORDON

Profit on Paper

OTTAWA (CP)—If the federally-owned CNR took its accounting cue from the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway, it could boast about a surplus instead of admitting a deficit, CNR President Donald Gordon said yesterday.

Mr. Gordon was explaining to the Senate transport committee how the CNR keeps its books.

"I can easily show a surplus if I show it the same way the province of British Columbia shows it in the accounts of the PGE," said Mr. Gordon.

Basic difference is in the degree of depreciation set out annually, he said.

The CNR reported a $43,588,000 deficit in 1959 and is forecasting a $24,000,000 deficit for 1960.

"You always seem to be coming back for more money," said Senator John Haig (P.C., Manitoba) before the committee approved a bill authorizing the government to back loans and preferred stock amounting to $203,850,000 for CNR and TCA capital expenditures.

"Ah," said Mr. Gordon, "we are coming for capital. That is investment."

In Vancouver, Premier Ben

nett, president of the PGE, was told of the report.

"I am glad to hear that men of such wide railway experience as Donald Gordon recognize that British Columbia is a great and brilliant province," he said.

U.S. General Attacks

'Monty Apes Reds'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gen. Albert Wedemeyer, wartime commander of U.S. forces in the China theatre, Wednesday accused Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of following the Communist propaganda line in his recent comments on China. (See opposite page.)

"To be subjected to propaganda emanating from Peking, Moscow, and other Communist centres is a daily experience throughout the free world, but to have it dished up by a distinguished military leader of the West is indeed difficult to swallow."

Wedemeyer, now retired, said:

recent date and the official police action required to crush ruthlessly the dissident elements rioting for food."

Wedemeyer said he admired Montgomery's intellectual integrity, leadership and sound military judgment but added: "His recent comments concerning Red China convince me that this fine old soldier should relax on his laurels."

But policemen at the scene commented that it was better than a few years ago when young army officers routed the Druids by heaving explosive but harmless cardboard hand grenades into the circle.

And while the Druids looked anxiously toward the east, the Southampton University jazz band blared "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise."

The Druids vainly waved oak twigs and shepherd's crooks to summon the sun. A glance at the watch, and it was clear 4:24 a.m. had passed.

B.C. Demands

Lifejackets For Young

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. H. Day, B.C. Safety Council president, called Wednesday for development of a lifejacket especially for small children.

Recent tests here showed federal department of transport-approved life jackets to be unsafe for children.

He suggested a jacket with support under the chin to keep the child upright.

HOME CANNING?

GET A PERFECT SEAL EVERYTIME

When we asked home canners and home economists to give these new lids a "sneak preview," we got a chorus of enthusiastic approval. » You'll love them too. Here's why— » We took real red rubber and created a seal that's almost twice as thick. This deep, springy cushion shuts out air as no other lid has done before. » And because it's made with real rubber, it leaves no sticky residue on the lip of the jar. » Next time you're home canning, be sure to try these new Ball Dome Lids. They're really, really wonderful.

THE LID WON'T RUST. This cream-white enamel lining resists acids and won't rust or corrode. This extra protection makes Ball Dome Lids best for all your home canning.

LISTEN TO IT SEAL. The lid goes "ping" when the Dome goes down. That means you have a perfect vacuum seal. Ball Dome Lids really take the guesswork out of canning.

It's strawberry time... Time to capture their full, fine flavor for off-season treats... this year, when you preserve, have yourself a BALL!

There will be no individual desks for pupils and teaching will be on the seminar system used by Socrates before he had to swallow a dose of hemlock.

FROM SHAWNIGAN

The school is being started by Geoffrey Knighton, head of the science department at Shawinigan Lake Boys' School for nine years. It will be located at 939 Pemberton and will be named Rockland School. Mr. Knighton said yesterday he had bought a 12-room, rambling old house and would offer "individual" attention. It will be the only "tutorial" school on the Island and is due to start July 10 with a summer school.

MORE ATTENTION

"The present school system, especially in Victoria, does an excellent job considering the demands upon the time of teachers," he said yesterday. "It is obvious that with such a large number of secondary school population it would be almost impossible for the teacher to provide the individual attention which would benefit those who are doubtful martians." Mr. Knighton claims his system is "not a replacement, but an addition" to the existing education facilities with a "no frills" curriculum designed mainly for persons working for senior matriculation, for scholarships or those "boning" for exams.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

Senate Democratic whip Mike Mansfield charged yesterday that the Eisenhower administration's operation of foreign policy and defence is in "shocking disarray" which "at best borders on national disgrace."

disaster. The Montana Democrat, recognized as a foreign affairs expert, said the American people should ask themselves immediately "who runs this administration in the vital matters of foreign policy and defence?"

'Identical Bids Make Farce of Tenders'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the British Columbia Public Buyers Association said Wednesday identical bids make a farce of the procedure of submitting secret tenders.

Ralph Bridge, purchasing agent for the Vancouver school board, said some of the identical bids were "not a coincidence."

City council has ordered its law department to prepare a report on identical bids. In the last 18 months, the city has received 10 identical bids and the school board three.

CCFer Says:

Industry Spent Not a Cent On Salk Work

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian pharmaceutical industry didn't spend a red cent on developing Salk polio vaccine despite what a trade booklet implies, Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena) said Wednesday.

More and More

Soap Boxes Contain Only Soap

VANCOUVER (CP)—The great premium craze is on the decline and an increasing proportion of washing powder packages on the Canadian market contain only washing powder, says the president of one of Canada's biggest soap and detergent manufacturers.

President W. E. Williams of Proctor & Gamble Company of Canada, said Wednesday his company entered the premium business reluctantly and is now trying to "find a way back to sanity."

Fifteen months ago packages containing premiums accounted for 37.5 per cent of the Canadian soap and detergent market, Mr. Williams said. Today they accounted for only 26 per cent and their pull was steadily declining.

He referred to "Facts About Pharmaceutical Manufacturing" published by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association of Toronto.

The booklet implies that $20,000,000 was spent in developing Salk vaccine and the same sum on penicillin, Mr. Howard said. Penicillin was actually developed in the U.S. by public funds.

Mr. Howard, speaking in a Commons health debate, tied his allegations to the fact that research costs are cited by the drug industry as a factor in high prices.

"The discovery of penicillin had nothing to do with the drug industry in Canada or the United States," the CCF member said.

"It was developed in the United States almost exclusively through government funds. The same with Salk vaccine."

But in Canada, he said, the treasury put up the money to develop Salk vaccine. Only three of the 60 manufacturing companies listed as belonging to the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers' Association are actually Canadian as far as he can find out, he said. Twenty-five were subsidiaries of U.S. companies.

Motor Vehicles Up 4.5 Per Cent

Motor vehicle registrations in British Columbia are up a substantial 4.5 per cent from last year for a total of 502,897 at May 31, the government disclosed yesterday.

The figure represented an increase of some 21,000 vehicles over the total at the same time one year ago.

Commercially licensed vehicles showed a drop of 7,000 from last year, but a motor vehicles branch official said this was largely the result of transfers from commercial to passenger licensing for thousands of operators.

He explained that many owners of station wagons, who were previously required to take out commercial licensing, this year were allowed to operate with passenger licences.

Lone Divorce Bill Eased Past CCF

OTTAWA (CP)—One of some 400 divorce petitions was eased through a CCF Commons blockade Tuesday. It was only the 11th since March 31.

CCF let the bill through because the wife of the man seeking the divorce had been living openly with another man for four or five years.

also of Victoria. The magistrate set bail at $7,500 for Wong and remanded him in custody until his three sureties could be investigated.

Jacobsen was picked up by RCMP as he left the rear door of the club. A second man escaped by re-entering the building, climbing from a window and running over the roof of an adjacent building. Wong was arrested later in the week.

Lee Fung, who was found tied in a sheet and with adhesive over his mouth and nose, had a bruise on his head.

Victorian Pleads Guilty To Port Alberni Break-In

PORT ALBERNI—Gunnar Jacobsen of Victoria, pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. E. MacLeod Wednesday to a charge of breaking, entering and committing an indictable offence.

He was remanded until Monday for sentence pending a probation officer's report.

Charged with Jacobsen in connection with a break-in at the Tin Yin Club, 107 First Avenue South, where a Chinese inmate was bound and gagged early last Thursday morning was David Wong,

Board Chief Blames Dentists

Time Main Factor

By TERRY HAMMOND

Chairman of a board to license B.C. dental technicians has confirmed that only those who have been breaking the law for at least seven years will be allowed to deal directly with the public.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the dental technician's licensing board and principal author of the licensing regulations, said last night the Colonist had been correct in its interpretation of the regulations when they were handed down during his absence from B.C. earlier this month.

RIGHT DENIED

The Colonist said the regulations would deny the right to deal directly with the public to all technicians except those who have been doing so illegally for at least seven years.

"That is quite right," Dr. Shrum said last night. He said the move had been taken to minimize the number of technicians who would receive the special privilege and he blamed the confusion which exists in the dental technician field squarely upon B.C. dentists.

"If the dentists had policed their own act this would not have happened," he stated.

NOT CRIMINALS

Asked to comment on a statement by Dr. C. R. Hallman, president of the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons, that the regulations were tantamount to licensing "abortionists and bootleggers," Dr. Shrum said, "I don't believe that practising as a dental technician dealing with the public is a criminal act."

"Abortionists and bootleggers are guilty of a criminal act and are prosecuted by the attorney-general's department."

NOT THE CASE

This was not so in the case of dental technicians dealing with the public, where prosecutions were the responsibility of the dental profession.

He said that the board recognized that some technicians had been dealing with the public for as long as 15 years. "The board felt it did not want to throw these people out," he added.

He also pointed out that the regulations were agreed to by officials of both dental technicians' associations in B.C.

DEADLINE REASON

He said the deadline of Sept. 15 for licensing of all technicians who applied to deal with the public, was also designed to restrict sharply the number of technicians so authorized.

"After that there will be no new ones brought in and in 10 years most of them will be retired."

PRESCRIPTIONS

When all those licensed are dead or retired, all technicians will operate on dentists' prescriptions.

The regulations extend licences to deal with the public to technicians with 12 years' experience, of which the last seven must have been "in an establishment dealing with the public in B.C."

All others will be licensed only to supply dentures upon the written prescription of a dentist.

Many technicians will not be able to apply for the special privilege of dealing directly with the public because they cannot truthfully say that they have been dealing illegally with the public for seven years.

Jammed Store Burns, 11 Die in Liverpool

LIVERPOOL (AP)—The worst fire here since the 1940 Nazi blitz swept through a crowded five-storey department store Wednesday.

Eleven or more persons were killed and a dozen or so were injured.

A heroic engineer working on a renovation project in the Henderson store fell to his death from a finger-tip hold on a top floor ledge after helping five girls to safety.

The store, a subsidiary of the famous Harrods of London, was doing business as usual during modernization when the fire began, and many customers and clerks were trapped on the top floor.

It was believed the fire started in a kitchen in a pan of French fries that blazed up and was quickly beyond control.

Mall Vote Today

Mayor Percy Scurrell called yesterday for a good turnout for today's voting on the bylaw to borrow $1,000,000 for construction of a parking facility and mall.

The voting will be in the Victoria Ballroom at Government and Cormorant from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with 18,400 owner-electors eligible to cast ballots.

The bylaw requires the approval of 60 per cent of those voting to pass.

"The vote is a most important one for the city," Mayor Scurrell said. "Both sides of the question have been thoroughly aired and it is my hope that all owner-electors will exercise their franchise."

"Regardless of the result, city council is anxious that a majority of the voters will express their opinion in order that we will know beyond doubt what the city wants."

JEAN LESAGE
... shaky victory

ANTONIO BARRETTE
... surprise defeat

Leave Documents Lesage Warns

By CP and UPI

OTTAWA—The Liberals last night won a shaky election over the Union Nationale in what was regarded as one of the major upsets in Canadian politics.

Premier Antonio Barrette said the margin was so slight he would ask Lieutenant-Governor Osmund Gagnon to call another election immediately.

The Liberals won 50 seats, compared with 44 for the Union Nationale. The other seat of the 95 in the House was won by an Independent.

Recounts in several ridings could alter the standings.

NOT ENOUGH?

Political sources said Mr. Gagnon would almost certainly ask Liberal leader Jean Lesage to form a new government. However, some observers said that under Quebec's electoral law Mr. Lesage did not have a sufficient majority to form a "permanent" government. They said another election would likely be held within six months.

Mr. Lesage's victory was almost a duplicate of that pulled off in 1957 when John Diefenbaker's Conservatives toppled a 22-year federal Liberal rule.

LANDSLIDE NEXT

Mr. Diefenbaker at that time formed a minority government after being given little chance of winning the election. One year later he scored the greatest victory in Canadian federal politics.

Definite results on the apparent upset hinged on narrow votes in some constituencies. Some constituencies were decided by fewer than 100 votes. In Montmagny, Attorney-General Antoine Rivard was defeated by 10 votes.

FAVOR LIBERALS

However, authoritative sources said recounts would likely favor the Liberals.

When Mr. Lesage claimed victory, the Liberals had 49 seats. "Victory is assured," he said. "The Liberals will govern the province with 49 seats."

TAKE NOTHING

He coupled his claim with a warning to cabinet ministers and government officials not to attempt to remove any documents from the legislature.

Mr. Lesage said he will be at the opposition leader's office in the legislature today "to confer with members of my team."

TOOK AWAY 27

In their upsurge, the Liberals gained 27 seats from the Union Nationale plus two new seats created at the last session of the legislature. One of the new seats was Duplessis, named for the late Maurice Duplessis.

When the legislature was dissolved April 24, the Liberals held 17 seats and the Union Nationale 71.

RECORD VOTE

The election saw a record vote of more than 2,000,000 and brought a sharp shift in the popular vote to the Liberals from the Union Nationale.

Mr. Lesage won personal election in Quebec West, in his first bid to enter the legislature.

Final standing:	1960	1956
Liberals	50	20
Union Nationale	44	72
Independent	1	1
Total	95	93

Party gains:
Liberals from UN, 28.
Liberals new seats, 2.
Unchanged, 64.

Elected with him were men who toppled some Union Nationale cabinet ministers and scored upset victories in seats where Union Nationale members had piled up overwhelming majorities in 1956.

Besides Attorney-General Rivard, cabinet ministers defeated included Trade Minister Beaulieu in St. Johns, Finance Minister Bourque in Sherbrooke, Lands and Forests Minister Jacques Miquelon in Abitibi East and Wilfrid Labbe, minister without portfolio, in Athabasca.

Treaty Ratified

Kishi Resigns After 'Victory'

TOKYO (UPI)—The United States and Japan put their new security treaty into effect yesterday, and minutes later, riot-plagued pro-Western Premier Nobusuke Kishi said he would resign.

Kishi blamed "international Communist plotting" for the riots against the treaty and his government.

The treaty, ratified only hours before by the U.S. senate, already was in Tokyo for the final ceremonies which leftists and threatened to disrupt—if necessary by personal violence to U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur III.

But apparently the speed with which U.S. and Japanese officials moved to exchange ratification documents caught the demonstrators off guard.

B.C. Doesn't Squeal!

Maritimes Get the Grease

OTTAWA (C)—Do the Maritime provinces get more special treatment because they need it, or because they complain loudest?

Senator William Brunt (P.C. Ontario), sponsoring an excise law amendment bill in the Senate Wednesday, said Maritime senators would be interested in the tax reduction on materials for equipping and repairing ships used in east coast fishing.

"What about British Columbia?" asked Senator Thomas

Reid (L-British Columbia). "We have fishing vessels there too, you know."

"But British Columbia does not holler the way the Maritimes do," Senator Brunt said. "The squealing wheel gets the grease," said Senator Reid.

But Cricket Suffers

Grandma's Life Span Increasing

By RICHARD L. THOMAS
Daily Colonist London Correspondent

LONDON—On the last day of the first test cricket match between England and South Africa there were 500 spectators on the ground. At the eight county matches on the same day there were 1,800 people. True, it was Tuesday and a full working day—but there was a time when a test match would have attracted 30,000 spectators on the busiest days and office boys' grandmothers were dying by the thousands.

So take Saturday. Saturday is the traditional sporting day. Most industries operate a five-day week. The total attendance at all first-class cricket—including the test match—was approximately 21,000, the sort of gate county cricket used to attract on most grounds.

The reason? Television say the pundits.

NOT WHOLLY TRUE

The good British sporting man stayed at home to watch the test match instead of either going to see it or going to his local cricket ground. The idiot's lantern ruined the gates of all first-class cricket. It is as good a reason as any. But it is not wholly true.

Whither county cricket? It is a strange paradox that in a world where there is much more leisure than there used to be, no one seems to have time to spend at the county ground. The heyday of county cricket was between the two world wars. So what has happened since then?

Television, of course. Radio before that.

THOUSANDS OF CARS

Thousands of motor cars have been turned into millions. It has been estimated that on a fine weekend there are 6,000,000 cars on the roads of this over-crowded island carrying up to 20,000,000 people—nearly half the nation perambulating round the country.

Some of them, no doubt, the stuff of which county cricket crowds were made.

There is another thing. The kind of Englishman who spent his summer watching cricket (like the disappearing amateur cricketer) has vanished. The gentleman with a private income has all but disappeared and where he hasn't he has to spend most of his time worrying about income tax.

GET IT OVER

But you will still find some good crowds and excellent cricket in the Lancashire League. The reason is that the cricket may be rough and ready at times but it is exciting and they "get it over with" in an afternoon. County cricket drags on for three whole days, test matches for five days.

It's rather like the theatre and the talkies—they've been desperately hard hit by TV according to the experts, but the strange thing is that if you put on a really good play or a really good talkie you'll still find them standing in line to see it.

County cricket as played today is a gesture to history—like the Household Cavalry, the Yeomen of the Guard and democracy. Colorful things to see occasionally, to talk about and photograph—but not much practical use in the atomic age.

KEEP IT SHORT

Even so English people still love cricket. But the day when watching cricket meant a picnic on a lovely ground and a day in the sun has vanished. You can go further (sometimes anyway) in a car, television and the popular newspaper have made you receptive to quick action. It's a world of headlines and punch-packed thrills with life trimmed to half-an-hour or half-a-column. Even the parsons think 20 minutes is long for a sermon—and the congregation thinks 10 is enough.

But the illusion that three and five-day cricket matches can survive lingers on. Soon county cricket will have to be streamlined even if it leaves Dr. Grace rotating in his grave. The heretics have already suggested limiting matches to one day playing from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. with intervals for meals and allowing 9½ hours for play with a time limit of 2½ hours for each innings for the start and two hours each for the second innings—plus anytime you can pinch from the other fellow by getting his side out.

Add to that only two days for cricket in the week—Saturday and Sunday—and you would get something so fast, furious and exciting that the customers would want to see it. And if the game was washed out it would be replayed on a fine week day—no draws.

True it would not be the cricket we know today—but it might do something to keep the game alive.

the Pirates last made it, yesterday continued to sprint towards a post-season clash.

Hottest club in the major baseball leagues for the past two weeks, the Yankees shook off for the moment at least the almost-expected injury to Bill Skowron.

The big first baseman, who annually manages to get injured at least once, was lost to his club for a week or 10 days when he suffered a severely sprained wrist sliding into second base in the sixth inning of a game against Detroit Tigers on Tuesday night.

Kent Hadley, who came to the Yankees in the deal with Kansas City which also brought them Roger Maris, filled Skowron's shoes well last night. He batted in three runs with two homers and with Maris adding his 20th four-baser, the Yankees clobbered the Tigers, 7-3.

SIX STRAIGHT

It was the sixth straight win for both Art Ditmar, who had lost his first three decisions of the year, and the Yankees, who now have won 13 of their last 14 to move from five-and-a-half-game trailers to a one-and-a-half-game lead.

Baltimore's second-place Orioles lost ground when Early Wynn regained his old form and pitched the still-dangerous Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 win.

It was Wynn's third victory in nine decisions this season and the 274th win of his major league career. He gave up only two hits.

Cleveland's Frank Lane was taking bows again yesterday after Ted Bowsfield, the Pen-tion southpaw he obtained only a short while back from Boston Red Sox came up with a second straight win for his new club.

Bowfield beat Washington Senators, 1-0, with a five-hitter as he made a first-inning run which came out of Jim Pier-sall's triple and Harvey Kuenn's single, stand up.

FRIEND READY

As for the Pirates, they had Bob Friend ready yesterday and the result was a 5-0 win over St. Louis Cardinals. It was the ninth win in 12 decisions for the veteran and his fourth shutout of the season.

But the Pirates had new contenders for their position atop the National League in the Milwaukee Braves.

Coming on steadily, the Braves bounced the fading San Francisco Giants 7-4, and while Milwaukee is still three and a half game out, the difference on the losing side is only two games.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Giants, who have played five games since Bill Rigney was bounced and replaced by Tom Sheehan.

Utica, N.Y. (AP) — Dickie Diveronica, a protégé of Carmen Basilio from Syracuse, N.Y., scored a split decision over Jay Fullmer, brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, in a 10-round bout Wednesday night. Fullmer weighed 136½ pounds, Diveronica 135½.

Series Reservations In Bucs' Mailbag

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' front office is just a little worried—what will it be like if the Pirates actually win the National League pennant?

The first-place Pirates, home for a 13-game stand, have thousands of loyal followers. Ticket sales are booming. Some fans have gone so far as to write formally for world series reservations.

"We got one request just today from some place in Georgia," a Pirate spokesman said. "We just had to return his cheque—along with a form letter explaining we are not taking any applications at this time."

'Old' Gardnars' Tennis Too Much for Youngster

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy laughed in the face of Father Time Wednesday by advancing into the third round of the Wimbledon men's singles tennis championship along with three fellow Americans.

Mulloy—his crew-cut hair now a battleship grey—called on the craft and skill gained in more than a quarter of a century of competition. Davies, 24 and strong as a young lion, chased from corner to corner, strained for volleys just beyond the reach of his racquet and sometimes shook his head in wonder as Mulloy sent over a smoking drive of remarkable power.

From an American point of view this victory by Mulloy was one of the few bright spots in a day which saw the nine first-round survivors from the United States reduced to four. Eighteen Yankees began play Monday.

Among other winners were: Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis defeated John Cranston, of San Marino, Calif., 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Champs Must Help Out If Vics to Stay Alive

By JIM TAYLOR

Victoria's fate in the Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff chase rests squarely in the hands of the Mann Cup champions from New Westminster.

It was put there last night, when Vics were beaten, 8-5, by Vancouver in a game that was virtually a must for Norm Baker's club. Because they lost, Vics must now sit back and hope New Westminster can knock off Nanaimo to night at home and again Saturday in Nanaimo.

If the champions, who helped out last week by beating Vancouver twice, don't come through again that third playoff spot could be all but out of sight as far as Vics are concerned.

It has been a disastrous week for Vics. One point out of third place Monday, they could have moved three points ahead of Vancouver with a sweep Tuesday and last night. Instead, they now find themselves two points behind third-place Nanaimo with Nanaimo holding two games in hand.

LOSE GILL To top it off, they lost Al Gill in Tuesday's game, and his absence was sorely felt last night. They needed his ball-hawking ability badly as Vancouver outtraced them to the loose ball consistently, and without Gill to work the pivot the odd-man play was sputtering and unsure.

At that, Vics came to life in the fourth quarter to stay in the game until the last four minutes. Trailing 6-2, they pumped three quick goals past Stan Joseph and seemed to be on the way to tying it up.

SHOWS WHY Then Gordie Gimble showed 1,901 fans why he is the most valuable player in the league. First he made a perfect pass to set up Fred Usselman for a goal at 11:01 to make it 7-5.

Then Usselman picked off a wild pass from the Victoria defence and whipped it to Gimble, alone in front of Fred Wooster. Gimble got his second goal of the night and his 29th of the season to clinch the win and put Vancouver within four points of New Westminster.

Fine goaltending by Wooster and Joseph kept both clubs off the scoresheet until 5:10 of the second quarter. Whitley Severon scored on a power play to put Vics ahead 1-0 and moved within two points of Bill Dickinson's league-record point total of 931. Wayne Pecknold got that one back at 8:07 on a fine close-in shot to end the scoring for the half.

Vancouver broke the game open in the third quarter, out-scoring Vics 3-1, on two goals by Bob Babcock and one by minor leagues. Nesterenko, who is trying out with Toronto Argos of the Big Four football league, said "I just don't hit it off with Rudy (Chicago coach) Plous."

REIDER GETZ, former Victoria tennis star now playing out of Vancouver, suffered a badly sprained ankle yesterday and had to default his match to Francois Goudin in the opening round of the Canadian Davis Cup trials. He trailed, 2-6, 6-4, 3-4 at the time...

The only method to get a player from the AHL to the WHL without asking for waivers is for a NHL club to call up a player from the AHL, play him, and then option him to the WHL. Gene Tunney set a record high of $990,445 for his second fight with Jack Dempsey, at Chicago, in 1927, an era in which income taxes were nothing compared to what they are today.

NEW YORK (AP)—Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson have a problem that should happen to everyone.

They would like to fight again within 90 days and earn maybe $1,000,000. But they may not be able to afford it this year because of the tremendous income tax bite.

The two young heavyweights, re-crowned champion Patterson and delirious Johansson, may have earned record purses of $1,000,000 apiece for their bout Monday night.

The answer to whether there will be a rubber match this year likely will be furnished by their financial advisers.

The fight, in which Patterson regained the world title by flattening the Swede in the fifth round, lured 31,892 fans and $524,891 to the Polo Grounds.

But that was to be all, and Vics left the floor in their toughest spot of the season.

Manager Ralph Baker was still looking on the bright side and looking forward to next week's series with New Westminster. Both Gill and Landess will be back for that one, and Jackie Wilson has returned from college. He will also be

Speaking Briefly

Now It Can Be Told, Hank Was Ineligible

Coley Hall, owner of the Vancouver Canucks, admitted yesterday that his club had used an ineligible player throughout the 1959-60 Western Hockey League season—Hank Basen, who was selected as the goalkeeper on the all-star club.

This first came to light two weeks ago during the National Hockey League draft, when Detroit Red Wings claimed Basen for the $20,000 draft price and Eddie Shore, owner of the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League, protested.

Shore owned Basen's contract and under hockey rules, the NHL cannot draft players from the AHL. But Basen had been transferred to the WHL illegally and it appears that Basen will go to Detroit and, likely, turn up in the nets of Edmonton Flyers next season.

The New Flag

Some Confusion

No Fanfare As Cabinet Adopts Flag

With a marked lack of fanfare and only moderate confusion, B.C. yesterday became the third province in Canada to have its own official flag.

Utterly gone and, the government hopes, completely forgotten, is the design introduced by the provincial secretary at the last legislative session—a design combining B.C.'s snowcapped peaks with a dogwood blossom, the provincial crest, two stately Douglas firs, the sea, a pulp mill and a thumbnail sketch of suburbia.

By an order-in-council passed Monday at Creston but not made official until yesterday, when it got the belated signature of Premier Bennett, B.C. has adopted a 1906 design which the premier discovered on a recent trip to Britain.

It bears the Union Jack with crown centred, above a sea of blue and white, against which spreads what is described as a "never-setting sun."

The new flag almost failed to become official yesterday when it was suddenly discovered that the order-in-council covering its formal adoption had apparently been overlooked by the premier when he signed others passed at Creston.

The order was flown to Vancouver earlier yesterday, where the premier affixed his signature, and flown back to Victoria late in the afternoon.

Magistrate Leaves To Make Trial Fair

DUNCAN — Stipendiary Magistrate D. K. McAdam, sitting yesterday in his first case, was called in by presiding

D. K. McADAM

Magistrate A. C. Sutton to "ensure a fair trial." Magistrate Sutton said he stepped down from the case because under a charge of attempted rape, later dropped by police, Levi George pleaded guilty and he read a pre-sentence report.

Police followed up the other charge with a charge of assault that Magistrate McAdam will hear. It is alleged that Mr. George, a Cowichan Indian, assaulted an Indian juvenile girl, near Duncan on June 6. Through lawyer Thomas Lines, Mr. George pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for Tuesday at 2 p.m. Magistrate Sutton had set bail at $4,000 in two sureties.

Magistrate McAdam reduced the bail to $2,500 but refused to lower it to $500 as asked by Mr. Lines. Crown prosecutor A. I. MacDonald said it should not be so low because "this is a very serious case" and because, if Mr. George went to the U.S., extradition might prove difficult.

'In Many Homes the Best View Is from the Bathroom Window'

By JAMES K. NESBITT

Greater Victoria architects in future will praise more than criticize.

Victoria chapter of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, meeting at the home of Walter Elkins, deplored recent public statements from architects that much of Victoria's new housing is "strawberry box."

They were critical, too, of a recent cross-Canada architectural survey, which termed in public, many of Canada's new homes dull, boring and rubberstamp.

The local architects agree in private that many new houses are strawberry boxes, that they're dull, boring and rubberstamp, and ruining the natural beauty of the countryside.

But, nonetheless, they feel it would be better if architects pointed to good examples of good architecture, rather than tearing apart the bad ones.

"People don't like being told something they've bought with hard-earned money is bad," said one architect. "It puts their backs up. Then architects must spend hours, perhaps years, beating down prejudice against them."

Architect John Wade said Victoria is unique as far as architecture is concerned, because many elderly people come here to retire. They don't want the challenge, a bother to them, of dealing with a home of their own design, or something different. They buy anything as long as it's easy.

Mr. Wade said architects should not entirely ignore the past, and said that he himself lives in a home designed nearly 50 years ago by the famous Sam McCure, architect for Hatley Park, home of James Dunsmuir, and many of the more substantial older homes in this area.

"I sometimes think architects should be like doctors, who never prescribe for their own families. Architects, when building homes, should get other architects to design them—they should never design their own," Mr. Wade said.

Another architect said: "In many homes in Greater Victoria the best view is from the bathroom window."

"The interior of a man's home is his own business—but what he does to the outside, to the natural surroundings, should be public business. The appearance of some homes amounts to a public nuisance," said Victoria chapter chairman Peter N. Cotton.

The architects were generally critical of municipal councils for not being severe enough when it comes to aesthetic beauty, because perhaps they want taxes more than beauty.

In Saanich, said one architect, "they don't even plan for tomorrow, let alone for next week or next year."

The architects felt that in Victoria homes should be permitted closer to the street, suitably fenced, so that a much larger, private garden could be created at the rear.

By forcing people to build 25 feet back from the sidewalk, the architects felt, the city fathers force home-owners to create beauty that should be the responsibility of the city.

This Isn't Election—Liquor Outlets Open

Today will be a "wet" voting day in Victoria as ratepayers go to the polls for the $1,000,000 mill vote, liquor control board officials said last night.

Unlike an election, a money bylaw does not require the closure of liquor stores, beer parlors, cocktail lounges or suspension of beverage serving in licensed dining rooms.

Committee Reports:

Juveniles Held In Jail

A new juvenile detention home is needed to cope properly with an increasing number of juvenile delinquents in Greater Victoria, the detention home committee says in its annual report, received yesterday at City Hall.

Although the present home on Coldharbour Road was closed for a month in 1959, the report says, 130 children were admitted, 15 more than in the full 12 months of 1958.

FACILITIES LACKING

But in addition, it says, 78 juveniles were detained in the city jail, compared with 46 in 1958, and "rightfully these 78 juveniles should have been detained in the juvenile detention home, and no doubt they would have been, had proper security and segregation facilities been available."

The report notes that according to assistant city engineer Roderick Clack, the present building "does not lend itself to serve satisfactorily as a juvenile home . . . and any modifications required to meet proper segregation and security needs would prove a very costly undertaking."

ESTIMATE: $72,000

It quotes Mr. Clack as estimating cost of a suitable new building at $72,000, based on 1959 costs and excluding land acquisition and furnishing.

"It is the hope of this committee that the new detention home has not been sidetracked and overlooked and that every effort will be made to proceed toward the construction of a new home embracing all the necessary requirements," it says.

Oldtimers to Re-Enact Arrival

PORT ALBERNI—Approximately 20 oldtimers, men who have lived in the Alberni valley for 50 years or more, will sail up the harbor at 6 p.m. June 29, to land at the spot where the Meg Merlees unloaded workmen to start construction of the Anderson sawmill just 100 years ago.

Alberni council has undertaken to stage this phase of the four-day centennial celebration to take place here next week.

According to Ald. Russell Foxcroft, who with other Alberni council members met the centennial committee to make arrangements for the old town's participation, Boy Scouts have agreed to lend their sailboat and man it for the trip. The oldtimers will embark at the police dock in Alberni, sail down the inlet below Port Alberni, then return to the spot at the foot of Argyle where the historic landing was made in 1860.

Other pioneer residents will meet the craft. Each is asked to carry a rock about the size of a grapefruit to be built into a cairn at the site of the Merlees' landing.

Old-time costumes will be in order for an open-air council meeting on the City Hall parking lot at 7 p.m. A committee is working on plans for a pioneer banquet at 7:30 p.m. in Elks' Hall. Invitations are being sent to residents of 50 years' standing.

CHEMAINUS—Coun. Tony

Staples said yesterday that the North Cowichan Sports Council is doing "everything" it can to get playing fields.

He told council it is concentrating on getting land in North Chemainus, where parents representing an area with 125 children have presented a petition for action in getting a playground. They claim there is none close by.

Parents should not assume that the matter has been dropped, said the alderman, who is also head of the sports committee. The committee is taking steps to either lease land or set aside municipal land.

Also under consideration is a field at Somenos and development of the public park at Maple Bay.

DUNCAN — William H. Clark, 83, of Vancouver, a former member of the choir and board of stewards at Duncan United Church who died Tuesday, will be buried here Friday.

Rev. W. F. Burns will officiate at the 11 a.m. service. Burial will be in the family plot in Mountain View Cemetery, Somenos.

Born at Banff, Scotland, Mr. Clark came to Canada in 1908 and lived at Winnipeg before coming to Duncan in 1919. He left six years ago.

Surviving are a son, Cecil, here; two daughters, Mrs. Ina Johnston, Victoria, and Mrs. Alex Veitch of Gibsons; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren; a brother, James, Chemainus, and a sister, Mrs. R. Bosse, Victoria.

UCLUELET—Fisherman Ed Simon was fined $200 and costs by Magistrate Joseph Webb in Ucluelet court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of supplying Indians with liquor.

Mabel Williams, a Ucluelet Indian, was found guilty of possession of liquor and was fined $15.

COURTENAY—Directors of the B.C. Central Credit Union yesterday urged credit unions to follow conservative lending practices and not rely on outside borrowings for funds to meet the need of members.

The report of the directors, read at the annual meeting here, said credit unions should follow such a policy in view of recent statements by Dr. J. O.

Firestone, one of the principal advisers to the federal government, that there is a possibility of a serious recession in 1962.

H. W. Dickie Ltd. had sought compensation of $945 from Mr. and Mrs. Hank Newman involving the couple's home that was sold by J. H. Whitcome & Co. Ltd.

The case had been heard last month, but judgment was reserved. The firm claimed it was appointed agent for the couple.

DUNCAN—H. George Marleau, no fixed address, was fined the minimum of $50 yesterday by Magistrate A. C. Sutton for supplying liquor to an Indian.

Police said they saw Marleau leave a downtown beer parlor on Monday with a paper bag containing two bottles of beer, which he gave to Arthur Joe, a Cowichan Indian.

DUNCAN—John Ackerman, 20, of Sooke, was fined $25 for dealing as a stock dealer here during April without a government permit.

FROM SHAWNIGAN

The school is being started by Geoffrey Knighton, head of the science department at Shawinigan Lake Boys' School for nine years. It will be located at 939 Pemberton and will be named Rockland School.

Mr. Knighton said yesterday he had bought a 12-room, rambling old house and would offer "individual" attention. It will be the only "tutorial" school on the Island and is due to start July 10 with a summer school.

MORE ATTENTION

"The present school system, especially in Victoria, does an excellent job considering the demands upon the time of teachers," he said yesterday. "It is obvious that with such a large number of secondary school population it would be almost impossible for the teacher to provide the individual attention which would benefit those who are doubtful marticultants."

Mr. Knighton claims his system is "not a replacement, but an addition" to the existing education facilities with a "no frills" curriculum designed mainly for persons working for senior matriculation, for scholarships or those "boring" for exams.

Parking Banned

NORTH COWICHAN—Councillors warned yesterday that hikers leaving cars on roads near Mount Prevost can be prosecuted—as well as having their vehicles clipped by logging trucks.

Warning signs have been placed on roads leading up the mountain by works superintendent Perry Ross, but cars are still being parked on the road and causing a hazard for trucks owned by a firm logging the municipal tree farm.

Consideration is being given to a request from the Chemainus Legion branch for relief of taxes. Officials claim the club is taxed $811 compared with $276 which the Ladysmith Club, not in the municipality, has to pay.

A representative of the municipality will accept a swimming float at Maple Bay from a joint services committee on the same day as the annual Maple Bay Yacht Club water sports, later this summer.

A suggestion from the Chemainus Red Cross branch, that proper safeguards be taken at Chemainus Park during the swimming season was tabled. The parks budget hasn't the money to hire a lifeguard, said Coun. Gerald Smith.

At the last meeting the Gibbins Road hospital site was approved, even though an eight-inch sewer will have to be laid to the hospital.

The sewage will have to be in the form of septic tank effluent, because the city system is not capable of handling it direct from the hospital.

Victorian Pleads Guilty To Port Alberni Break-In

PORT ALBERNI—Gunnar Jacobsen of Victoria, pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. E. MacLeod Wednesday to a charge of breaking, entering and committing an indictable offence.

He was remanded until Monday for sentence pending a probation officer's report.

Charged with Jacobsen in connection with a break-in at the Tin Yin Club, 107 First Avenue South, where a Chinese inmate was bound and gagged early last Thursday morning was David Wong, also of Victoria. The magistrate set bail at $7,500 for Wong and remanded him in custody until his three sureties could be investigated.

Jacobsen was picked up by RCMP as he left the rear door of the club. A second man escaped by re-entering the building, climbing from a window and running over the roof of an adjacent building. Wong was arrested later in the week.

Lee Fung, who was found tied in a sheet and with adhesive over his mouth and nose, had a bruise on his head.

Hertel Promised
Recheck of Zoo

NANAIMO (CP)—The provincial game department has promised another inspection of Nanaimo Zoo, co-owner Paul Hertel said Wednesday.

Mr. Hertel said he and his new partner, Dan Dettwiler of Vancouver, have kept the zoo closed for the last three weeks while they have been painting and cleaning it up.

They have requested a renewal of Mr. Hertel's licence to operate the zoo, which expired May 15. The game department previously refused to renew it.

Board Chief Blames Dentists

Legal Technicians Disqualified

Why Lawbreakers Won Licences

Time Main Factor

By TERRY HAMMOND

Chairman of a board to license B.C. dental technicians has confirmed that only those who have been breaking the law for at least seven years will be allowed to deal directly with the public.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the dental technician's licensing board and principal author of the licensing regulations, said last night the Colonist had been correct in its interpretation of the regulations when they were handed down during his absence from B.C. earlier this month.

RIGHT DENIED
The Colonist said the regulations would deny the right to deal directly with the public to all technicians except those who have been doing so illegally for at least seven years.

"That is quite right," Dr. Shrum said last night.

He said the move had been taken to minimize the number of technicians who would receive the special privilege and he blamed the confusion which exists in the dental technician field squarely upon B.C. dentists.

"If the dentists had policed their own act this would not have happened," he stated.

NOT CRIMINAL

Asked to comment on a statement by Dr. C. R. Hallman, president of the B.C. College of Dental Surgeons, that the regulations were tantamount to "licensing" abortionists and bootleggers, Dr. Shrum said, "I don't believe that practising as a dental technician dealing with the public is a criminal act."

"Abortionists and bootleggers are guilty of a criminal act and are prosecuted by the attorney-general's department."

NOT THE CASE

This was not so in the case of dental technicians dealing with the public, where prosecutions were the responsibility of the dental profession.

He said that the board recognized that some technicians had been dealing with the public for as long as 15 years. "The board felt it did not want to throw these people out," he added.

He also pointed out that the regulations were agreed to by officials of both dental technicians' associations in B.C.

DEADLINE REASON

He said the deadline of Sept. 15 for licensing of all technicians who applied to deal with the public, was also designed to restrict sharply the number of technicians so authorized.

"After that there will be no new ones brought in and in 10 years most of them will be retired."

When all those licensed are dead or retired, all technicians will operate on dentists' prescriptions.

LAST SEVEN

The regulations extend licences to deal with the public to technicians with 12 years' experience, of which the last seven must have been "in an establishment dealing with the public in B.C."

All others will be licensed only to supply dentures upon the written prescription of a dentist.

Many technicians will not be able to apply for the special privilege of dealing directly with the public because they cannot truthfully say that they have been dealing illegally with the public for seven years.

Jammed Store Burns, 11 Die in Liverpool

LIVERPOOL (AP)—The worst fire here since the 1940 Nazi blitz swept through a crowded five-storey department store Wednesday.

Eleven or more persons were killed and a dozen or so were injured.

A heroic engineer working on a renovation project in the Henderson store fell to his death from a finger-tip held on a top floor ledge after helping five girls to safety.

The store, a subsidiary of the famous Harrods of London, was doing business as usual during modernization when the fire began, and many customers and clerks were trapped on the top floor. It was believed the fire started in a kitchen in a pan of French fries that blazed up and was quickly beyond control.

Mall Vote Today

Mayor Percy Scurrell called yesterday for a good turnout for today's voting on the bylaw to borrow $1,000,000 for construction of a parking facility and malls.

The voting will be in the Victoria Ballroom at Government and Cormorant from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., with 18,406 owner-electors eligible to cast ballots.

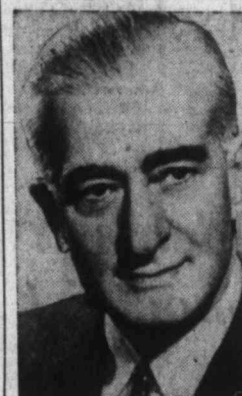

The bylaw requires the approval of 60 per cent of those voting to pass.

"The vote is a most important one for the city," Mayor Scurrell said. "Both sides of the question have been thoroughly aired and it is my hope that all owner-electors will exercise their franchise."

"Regardless of the result, city council is anxious that a majority of the voters will express their opinion in order that we will know beyond doubt what the city wants."

JEAN LESAGE
... shaky victory

... surprise defeat

Liberals Win Slim Margin

By CP and UPI

OTTAWA—The Liberals last night won a shaky election over the Union Nationale in what was regarded as one of the major upsets in Canadian politics.

Premier Antonio Barrette said the margin was so slight he would ask Lieutenant-Governor Onisme Gagnon to call another election immediately. The Liberals won 50 seats, compared with 44 for the Union Nationale. The other seat of the 95 in the House was won by an Independent. Recounts in several ridings could alter the standings.

NOT ENOUGH?

Political sources said Mr. Gagnon would almost certainly ask Liberal leader Jean Lesage to form a new government. However, some observers said that under Quebec's electoral law Mr. Lesage did not have a sufficient majority to form a "permanent" government. They said another election would likely be held within six months.

Mr. Lesage's victory was almost a duplicate of that pulled off in 1957 when John Diefenbaker's Conservatives toppled a 22-year federal Liberal rule.

LANDSLIDE NEXT

Mr. Diefenbaker at that time formed a minority government after being given little chance of winning the election. One year later he scored the greatest victory in Canadian federal politics.

Definite results on the apparent upset hinged on narrow votes in some constituencies. Some constituencies were decided by fewer than 100 votes. In Montmagny, Attorney-General Antoine Rivard was defeated by 10 votes.

FAVOR LIBERALS

However, authoritative sources said recounts would likely favor the Liberals.

When Mr. Lesage claimed victory, the Liberals had 49 seats. "Victory is assured," he said. "The Liberals will govern the province with 49 seats."

TAKE NOTHING

He coupled his claim with a warning to cabinet ministers and government officials not to attempt to remove any documents from the legislature.

Mr. Lesage said he will be at the opposition leader's office in the legislature today "to confer with members of my team."

TOOK AWAY 28

In their upsurge, the Liberals gained 28 seats from the Union Nationale plus two new seats created at the last session of the legislature. One of the new seats was Duplessis, named for the late Maurice Duplessis.

When the legislature was dissolved April 24, the Liberals held 17 seats and the Union Nationale 71.

RECORD VOTE

The election saw a record vote of more than 2,000,000 and brought a sharp shift in the popular vote to the Liberals from the Union Nationale.

Mr. Lesage won personal election in Quebec West, in his first bid to enter the legislature.

Final standing:	1960	1956
Liberals	50	20
Union Nationale	44	72
Independent	1	1
Total	95	93
Party gains:
Liberals from UN, 28,
Liberals new seats, 2,
Unchanged, 64,

Elected with him were men who toppled some Union Nationale cabinet ministers and scored upset victories in seats where Union Nationale members had piled up overwhelming majorities in 1956.

Besides Attorney-General Rivard, cabinet ministers defeated included Trade Minister Beaulieu in St. Johns, Finance Minister Bourque in Sherbrooke, Lands and Forests Minister Jacques Miquelon in Abitibi East and Wilfrid Labbe, minister without portfolio, in Athabasca.

B.C. Doesn't Squeal!

Maritimes Get the Grease

OTTAWA (C)—Do the Maritime provinces get more special treatment because they need it, or because they complain loudest? Senator William Brunt (P.C. Ontario), sponsoring an excise law amendment bill in the Senate Wednesday, said Maritime senators would be interested in the tax reduction on materials for equipping and repairing ships used in east coast fishing.

Reid (L-British Columbia). "We have fishing vessels there too, you know." "But British Columbia does not holler the way the Maritimes do," Senator Brunt said. "The squealing wheel gets the grease," said Senator Reid.
